CIVIC CENTER SECOND TO SEWERAGE PROBLEM, IS CLAIM

Say Sewer Plant Comes First in Importance to City of Glendale

THE acquisition of the site and buildings of the Glendale Union high school as a civic center came up for discussion at the weekly meeting of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce directors at the Citizens' building yesterday, following the presentation of the report of the civics committee on a meeting that had been held with the civic center committee of the Community Service at which the purchase of the site and buildings was urged, as was also the consolidation of the high school and city school boards.

C. E. Kimlin took the stand that the establishment of a civic center, while deserving of every consideration by the people of Glendale, should not be allowed to come before the sewer question, which is the paramount issue before the city today, and the proposal to issue bonds to purchase the site and the grounds of the High school would tend to deter or to halt entirely the issue of bonds to construct a sewer system for Glendale.

It would be advisable, Mr. Kimlin contended, to get the viewpoint of representatives of the various interests in the city on the civic center and on the sewers, but he insisted that definite figures on the amount of money needed to take over and remodel the High school buildings for a civic center and for the city offices be submitted before the Chamber of Commerce took any further action in the matter.

Asks for Real Facts

Mr. Kimlin's stand was supported by W. E. Hewitt, who presided in the absence of President Jesse E. Smith, and Mr. Hewitt also pointed out that the school buildings would probably be needed for the next ten years to accommodate the pupils in the local schools, if Glendale maintained its present rate of growth. It was stated that $500,000 at least would be required to replace the present High school plant, and definite facts and figures would be needed before the Chamber of Commerce would be prepared to adopt a course of action on the question.

L. H. Wilson stated that the figures had been compiled by several of the organizations that are interested in the acquisition of the school site as a civic center, and he promised to have them at the next meeting of the board. The

PITCHED BATTLE BY OIL WORKERS

Strikebreakers and Strikers Clash Near Martinez; Call Out Officers

OAKLAND, May 23.—A pitched battle between 500 strike-breakers and striking boiler makers at the Associated Oil Company's plant near Martinez was in progress today, the aftermath of importation of several hundred strike-breakers from Oakland last night.

Squads of deputy sheriffs from Martinez, headed by Sheriff R. R. Veale, rushed to the plant armed with shotguns, to quell the riot, meager reports from the scene stated.

A barrage of bricks and clubs hurled at the strike-breakers as they marched into the company's yards this morning precipitated the battle.

Gun play is feared, although so far only rocks and clubs have been used.

Halt Automobiles

One hundred strike-breakers were met by strikers at Bay Point last night and turned back to Oakland. The strike-breakers were in automobiles.

At Bay Point the road was blocked by a massed line of strikers. They halted the automobiles, forced the drivers to turn around, and prevented reinforcements from joining the strike-breakers already imported.

The rioting was the climax of a night marked by efforts of employers to import strike-breakers to smash the strike of the boiler makers who have been out for several weeks.

500 Men Work To Clear Tracks In Tunnel Fire

REDDING, CAL., May 23.—Five hundred men were working at top speed today to break the blockade caused by the fire which swept the interior of Southern Pacific tunnel No. 1 near Coram.

The fire on the interior of the tunnel is still burning and work in the tunnel itself has not yet been attempted. All energies are being bent toward the building of a temporary track around the tunnel. Steam shovels are busy on the cave-in at each end of the tunnel and laborers are as thick as bees working on the temporary track.

Special trains brought crews expert in tunnel building and timbering from Los Angeles, Portland and the snow sheds of the Sierras. An abundance of material has been rushed to the scene.

EAGLE ROCK CUT FROM DISTRICT

Glendale School Board Has Decided on Policy in Accepting Pupils

The high school board of trustees met last night at the high school and read an official letter from Mark Keppel, county superintendent of schools, announcing the severance of Eagle Rock from the Glendale Union high school district.

"You are notified hereby that the City of Eagle Rock was annexed to the City of Los Angeles on May 17, 1923," stated Mr. Keppel. "This annexation carries with it all of the territory of the Eagle Rock city school district of Los Angeles county.

"The moment that the annexation became effective Eagle Rock city school district of Los Angeles County, California, ceased to exist. Its board of trustees passed out of office and it passed under the jurisdiction of the board of education of the City of Los Angeles, with respect to all school conditions, kindergarten, elementary and high school. The former board of trustees of the former Eagle Rock city school district of Los Angeles county, California, are hereby authorized and directed to deliver all the records of every kind whatsoever, and every kind of property whatsoever, to the representatives of the board of educatiton of the City of Los Angeles, upon demand from said board."

After some discussion Dr. H. V. Brown offered a resolution, which was passed, that the local high school district would not receive any students next term from Eagle Rock unless the Los Angeles school district received an equal number of students from the Glendale union high school district.

Successor Not Named

Meanwhile, Mark Keppel has not appointed anyone to fill the unexpired term on the high school board of trustees of Mrs. Blanche A. Gardiner of Eagle Rock.

Principal George U. Moyse said that about 175 students are enrolled this year from Eagle Rock. He was unable to state how many are in this term's graduating class.

Some discussion was devoted to the organization of junior high schools and to the transformation of the local plant into a civic center, but the sentiment seemed to be that the board did not care to take any action on these subjects until further information had been obtained from Mark Keppel. A letter was read from him stating that, because of pending legislation, he was unable to give an opinion on these questions at this time.

Police Guard Woman Who Shot Man Dead

PHOENIX, Ariz., May 23.—Police today placed a guard over Mrs. Lealah Crandal, as she lay seriously wounded in a hospital. Last night she shot and killed W. E. Remington, 36, and former member of the Arizona legislature in what is said to have been a "love quarrel" at a local hotel, and then attempted to take her own life. Remington, who was shot twice, was almost instantly killed, but Mrs. Crandal has an even chance for recovery, according to physicians. A murder charge will be placed against Mrs. Crandal when she recovers.

Details of the shooting and the exact causes which led to it could not be learned by the police, but it is known that Remington and Mrs. Crandal have been in love for some time. Remington is said to have a wife; Mrs. Crandal is divorced.

EX-VETERAN IMPLICATED IN $38,000 ROBBERY, CHARGE

Suspect Suffers From Two Bullet Wounds; Recover Portion of Money

LOS ANGELES, May 23.—Weak from loss of blood and suffering severe pain from two gaping bullet wounds, Granville B. Blair, former regular army lieutenant and military instructor at Fort Sam Houston and Camp Mabry, Texas, and his pretty brown-eyed wife, Jenny O. Blair, were taken into custody today by the police and held on a blind charge of being implicated in the robbery Monday afternoon of David Antink,, Sun Drug Company messenger, of $38,300.

Blair, according to the police, has made a complete confession of his part in the holdup, but stubbornly refused to "snitch" on his pals. He declared, the officers said, that he did not know the identity of his associates in the robbery. He said he only knew one of the men slightly. However, the police claim they are in possession of his associate's names and their arrest is expetced hourly.

Part of Stolen Money

The wounded prisoner said he thought he had been shot by one of his pals and not by Antink, who fired several shots at the bandits when held up.

Blair's undoing came when his young and pretty wife asked Detective Jack Trainor to "ditch" for her a large paper satchel, of which she declared she did not know the contents, but that she feared to have it in her apartment. Trainor carried the parcel to Captain of Police Detectives George Home and when it was opened the contents proved to be $3,000 of the stolen money.

Under severe questioning Mrs. Blair described how a man came to her late Monday and whispered that her husband had been shot and that he would be found in an alley at East Twenty-seventh street and Central avenue.

Finds Husband Wounded

Mrs. Blair said she hurried to the locality named and there found her husband leaning against a fence, badly wounded. First, with part of her lingerie, she said she wiped the blood from his face and left arm and applied aid.

Three blocks away she said she found their automobile and after placing her husband in it drove to their apartment and smuggled her husband inside. She said she knew the wounds were caused by bullets but did not connect her husband with the Sun Drug robbery, until after Blair had been arrested.

BRITISH CABINET MEMBERS QUIT

Follow Out Custom and Resign; Practically All To Be Retained

LONDON, May 23.—All members of the Bonar Law cabinet resigned today to Stanley Baldwin, the new British premier.

Premier Baldwin took the resignations under consideration. It is understood that practically all the members of the old ministry will be retained. The resignations constitute a formality that always takes place when a prime minister quits.

It is understood that Sir Robert Horne, who has been offered the post of chancellor of the exchequer, is conferring with Austen Chamberlain before accepting. Both were members of the Lloyd George coalition cabinet.

FOUR MEN KILLED

BENSON, Ariz., May 23.—Four men lie dead today as a result of an explosion which destroyed three mixing houses of the Apache Powder company six miles south of here, yesterday. The terrific impact of the explosion destroyed all telephone and telegraph communication, and it was not until this morning that news of the tragedy was brought to this place.

NEAR BREAKDOWN

TOKIO, May 23—Opposition of the foreign office has about caused the breakdown of unofficial negotiations looking toward a trade agreement conference between Japan and soviet Russia. A cabinet council Friday is expected to determine the government's attitude finally.

COMPLETE FINAL DETAILS TO OPEN EXPOSITION HERE

Big Tent Is Scene Of Activity As Displays Are Being Brought To Finish For Opening

THE preparations for the opening of the Glendale Industrial Exposition have entered on their last stage, that of feverish hurry to complete the last details of getting the booths ready to receive the exhibits, the arranging of the backgrounds that lend an air of distinction to the various displays, the installation of the electric lights, and the addition of the last touches to the places where the long list of side shows and other amusement features will be housed.

H. L. Leavitt, the director general, is marshalling his forces for the final charge and will have everything in readiness when the doors of the big tent are thrown open at 7 o'clock Friday night and the crowds begin to throng the big tent to witness the opening ceremonies.

Already many of the exhibits are beginning to take shape, while others are practically complete. Many of the exhibitors are waiting until the last minute before the opening of the exposition to put their displays in place, but assurances have been given that everything will be ready and waiting when the big show opens.

The reception committee that has been appointed to welcome the visitors who will come to attend the opening are working out their program and will have their end of the work finished in plenty of time, so that the official ceremonies will go off without a hitch. It had been hoped to have Mayor George E. Cryer of Los Angeles heer to assist at the opening of the exposition, but word has been received by the committee that his official duties will prevent his appearance here, and his place will be taken by Raymond I Turney, who will be accompanied by Frank Wiggins, secretary of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, and it is also hoped that Congressman-elect John D. Fredericks will also be on hand for the occasion.

Officials to Attend

Mayor Berkley of Ocean Park and Santa Monica, together with the Santa Monica band, will head a big delegation from the Santa Monica Chamber of Commerce, while other cities and towns in this region will pour into Glendale their official and unofficial delegations to wish Glendale the best of good fortune in her Industrial Exposition.

The hundreds of flags that have been swaying and snapping in the breeze for the last few days have added a holiday note of color to the city's streets, and other decorations are being put in place every day, so that the city will present a gala appearance to the thousands of visitors who are expected to participate in the ten-day exposition of the wares of Glendale's live wire merchants.

Sir Conan Doyle Will Be Asked to Receive Code Message From 'Other World'

PORTLAND, Ore., May 23.—Sir Arthur Conan Doyle will be asked while in Portland, June 8, by a well known physician and investigator into psychic phenomena to receive a code message from the "other world" agreed upon between the local medico and his late wife, prior to her death, December 17, 1917.

If Sir Arthur can produce the message he will receive $500 posted by Dr. J. Allen Gilbert and prove beyond a reasonable doubt to the physician that communication with the dead is possible. Otherwise Dr. Gilbert insists that Doyle should explain why such a message cannot be received, provided spiritism is an scientifically true as he claims.

Dr. Gilbert's offer, posted a year ago for any medium who would bring him the countersign from his wife, attracted nationwide attention. A copy of the message is locked in a safety deposit box.

Sir Arthur, in a letter received by Dr. Gilbert today, said he feels it is a mistake to make such offers "because they attract frauds who seek money and notoriety rather than those deeply interested in the psychic."

"I cannot agree with Doyle," Dr. Gilbert said. "Until spiritism can submit itself to scientific investigation nothing much can be accomplished.

"It seems to me it is up to Sir Arthur to submit the test or explain why a message from my wife cannot be received by genuine mediums.

LATEST NEWS

CHINESE IMPOSE CENSORSHIP AT PEKING

TOKIO, May 23.—It is reported here today that a strict Chinese censorship has been imposed at Peking on dispatches from Lincheng, where negotiations are being conducted for the release of foreign prisoners of the Suchow bandits. This has greatly delayed reports, it was stated.

HOOPER RE-ELECTED CHAIRMAN OF BOARD

CHICAGO, May 23.—Ben W. Hooper was re-elected chairman of the United States railway labor board at its meeting here this afternoon. G. W. W. Hanger, who refused to be a candidate to succeed Hooper, although a majority favored him he said, was re-elected vice chairman.

GIVES POINCARE VOTE OF CONFIDENCE

PARIS, May 23.—The French senate this afternoon tendered Premier Poincare a vote of confidence. The vote was 180 to 109. The vote came as a result of the daylight saving bill presented by the premier. The senate was hostile to the measure and Poincare demanded an expression of confidence.

MAKES CHARGES AGAINST COAL OPERATORS

WASHINGTON, May 23.—Charges that non-union coal operators in eastern and northeastern Kentucky are preventing their men from joining the United Mine Workers of America through the use of "gun men and private spies," were filed with the United States coal commission today by a group of miners. They asked the commission to restore "the right to belong to or join the United Mine Workers, which the coal operators of Kentucky have taken away from us." They told the commission that if they did not sign the coal company's contract they were forced out of their jobs as well as out of the company's houses.

SEEK TO EFFECT RELEASE OF PRISONERS

WASHINGTON, May 23.—Preliminary steps looking toward the opening of direct negotiations with the Shantung bandits for the release of the American and other foreign prisoners has been ordered by the diplomatic council in Peking, the state department announced this afternoon. Secretary of State Hughes was advised today, in the first dispatch he has received from Minister Schurman in more than forty-eight hours, that a commission of foreign consular officials would be sent to Tsao-Chang, the town nearest the bandits' stronghold, to conduct an investigation of the entire situation and to report back to the diplomatic body.

CAPTIVES IN DANGER OF BEING PUT TO DEATH, BELIEF

American Prisoners Are in Pitiful Condition, Is Report at Peking

BULLETIN

SHANGHAI, May 23. — Although the ultimatum of the Shantung bandits expired Tuesday, none of the foreign captives have been shot, according to word received today from Lincheng.

The regular troops are said to be withdrawing and the situation is more hopeful.

There are a number of Americans among the prisoners.

PEKING, May 23.—Announcement was made today that the cabinet is now united in the belief that force must be used against the Shantung bandits who kidnaped Americans and other foreigners, although it is understood negotiations are still under way with the outlaws.

The Shantung military governor is returning to his post with full power to act.

The minister of communications conferred with the envoys of the five powers whose nationals were involved in the bandit raid, explaining the situation to them.

Accusations are made in some foreign quarters that it will be necessary to re-inforce the foreign troops or make some such display to emphasize the demand of the outside powers for vigorous action.

Security from arrest, with foreign guarantee, is the constant demands of the brigand chiefs.

In Serious Plight

Letters delivered by courier show that the plight of the prisoners, especially the Americans, is very bad. The American captives were picked out and moved to an isolated mountain, evidently with the purpose of stirring American public opinion to action.

Foreign diplomats are meeting daily. It is understood that a decision will be reached tomorrow as to whether foreign troops shall be re-inforced and protective measures be taken for the railways. It is virtually certain that all the diplomats will make similar proposals to their governments regarding control of the railways until the bandit outrages cease.

Puzzled By Silence

WASHINGTON, May 23.—Anxiety over the Chinese situation was deepened here today because of the continued silence of Minister Schurman, who has not reported to Secretary of State Hughes for forty-eight hours.

State department officials were in almost total ignorance of what steps are being taken to free the Americans and other foreigners held by the Shantung bandits, the only advices reaching here being from Consul Cunningham at Shanghai, who reported that all the women prisoners had been liberated.

Despite the silence of the American minister, however, officials held that "no news was good news," and were of the opinion that negotiations were proceeding, with Mr. Schurman, acting in concert with other members of the diplomatic corps in Peking.

No action will be taken by the United States until recommendations are received from the American minister.

If it became necessary for this government to ransom the American prisoners, officials said, the state department has funds which could be used for this purpose, but the Chinese government would be required to promise repayment.

SOVIET RUSSIA BOWS TO BRITAIN

Tentatively Accepts Most of Demands; Suggestion Of Conference

LONDON, May 23.—Leonid Krassin, special envoy of soviet Russia, handed a note to Foreign Secretary Lord Curzon this afternoon tentatively accepting a majority of the British demands.

The document suggested an Anglo-Russian conference to discuss the British charge that Moscow conducted Asiatic propaganda in violation of the trade pact, fishing rights, reported seizure of British property and other issues in dispute.

SEARCH FIRE RUINS FOR BODIES

Loss at Mexicali Is Today Estimated at $3,000,000; Eleven Known Dead

MEXICALI, Mexico, May 23.—The ruins of the business and Chinese quarters were being searched today for the bodies of persons who may have lost their lives in addition to the known eleven dead in the fire which swept the city causing $3,000,000 property loss and rendering several thousand Chinese homeless.

Ten Chinese were burned to death and one killed by a speeding fire truck. Others may have perished in the underground passages which honeycomb the Chinese section. Relief measures were also being taken today by the citizens of Calexico, Cal., and Mexicali to provide for the homeless. Large orders for rice and other foods were telegraphed to Los Angeles and San Francisco as most of the food supply of Mexicali was stored in the burned buildings.

Starts In Theatre

The fire started late yesterday when a roll of film being shown at the Cine saloon moving picture theatre burst into flames.

Fortunately the theatre was not crowded as panic ensued. It was believed today that most theatre patrons escaped. At least two hundred business houses were destroyed and stocks of fine liquors valued at more than $1,000,000 added fuel for the raging flames.

A slight breeze blowing in a southerly direction spread the flames to the Chinese quarter, where the small wooden shacks went up like tinder, while their myriad oriental dwellers fled for safety with what few belongings they could gather in their arms. Searching parties feared today that great additional loss of life might be discovered here, as underground passages connected practically all of the buildings and were used as retreats from the hot sun and as opium dens.

Fire Threatens Fort

The fire threatened Mexicali fort, where a final stand was made by firemen who had been gathered from the whole border line, including the Calexico, El Centro and Mexicali departments, and these government buildings were saved after a five-hour battle.

The Chinese Mercantile company, with an estimated loss of $500,000; Him Sam Lung, with a loss of about $400,000, and the Yee Kee company with a loss of $300,000 were the heaviest losers. It was estimated today by insurance men that about 50 per cent of the loss is covered by insurance in companies having their headquarters in Mexico City.

Judge Pryor Hand's Burial Being Planned

LONG BEACH, Cal., May 23.—Funeral arrangements were to be made today for Judge Pryor Hand, former chief justice of the supreme court of Illinois, who died here yesterday at the Kennebec hotel where he had made his home for the last two years.

Judge Hand was a member of the Illinois supreme court from 1900 to 1908, and during that time served as chief justice from 1903 to 1904 and from 1907 to 1908. Beginning in 1884, Judge Hand was a member of the county bench in Henry county, Ill., and was assistant United States attorney-general for the northern district of Illinois, in 1890, with headquarters in Chicago.

Many important decisions were rendered by Judge Hand while on the supreme court bench, among them being one in which he upheld the ten-hour work day for women. He also ruled against Chicago issuing $75,000,000 street car certificates.

Judge Hand is survived by a widow and one son, Fred L. Hand, a Chicago lawyer.

GRATITUDE IS EXPRESSED AT ANNUAL ELECTION OF CLUB

Women State Appreciation To Those Who Aided in Clubhouse Plans

By KATHERINE V. SINKS
Of The Evening News Staff

ONE year ago Tuesday Afternoon Club members, fired by enthusiastic anticipation of plans and ambitions for the greatest year in the club's history, chose Mrs. Daniel Campbell to preside as president over events leading up to the realization of those plans and ambitions. A renewal of that confidence, and congratulations and appreciation for devoted service and successful accomplishments, were expressed yesterday, when Mrs. Campbell was unanimously re-elected president.

It was a day of rejoicing in the realization to a great degree of the plans and ambitions of years and the day at the club's new home was marked by a luncheon given at noon by members of the official board to benefactors and fellow citizens and leaders; by the conferring of a honorary life membership on Mrs. Charles E. Hutchinson, past president and chairman of the building committee; by the re-election of Mrs. Campbell and her efficient staff; by the reports to date of committee activities; by the transaction of important business affairs; and by a special community singing hour celebrating National Music Week.

Guests of Honor

Gracious hospitality and wholehearted goodfellowship combined in the spirit dominating the informal noon luncheon. Invitations were issued to the two women and nine men who pledged themselves to assist the club women financially in the building of the club house, and to representatives of civic, religious and fraternal organizations and local newspapers. Invited as specially honored guest was Mrs. Charles H. Toll, Tuesday Afternoon club member and president elect of the Los Angeles District Federation of Women's Clubs. Because of previous urgent plans Mrs. Toll was unable to attend the luncheon, but hurried to the clubhouse for an informal greeting on her way to Los Angeles.

Others invited as honored guests were L. C. Brand, Mrs. Eila Richardson, Mrs. Minnie Patterson, H. E. Bartlett, A. S. Chase, Daniel Campbell, Clinton Booth, C. C. Cooper, C. H. Bott and Dr. Henry R. Harrower.

Mr. Brand, who is at his summer lodge at Mono Lake, with old

Syndicate of Capitalists to Purchase Baseball Team, Is Report

COLUMBUS, Ohio, May 23.—Negotiations for the purchase of the Boston American league baseball club by a syndicate of Columbus capitalists are in progress, but the deals have not yet been completed, E. M. Schoenborn, head of the syndicate and former president of the Columbus American association club, said today upon his return from Chicago. An earlier statement had been misconstrued by newspapermen, Schoenborn said.

Denies Sale Made

CHICAGO, May 23.—Harry Frazee, president of the Boston American league club, denied here today the Red Sox had been sold to a syndicate of Columbus, Ohio, men, headed by President Schoenborn of the Columbus club of the American association.

The negotiations have been in progress three year, he said, and have shown no development in that time.

"The club is for sale to anyone who has the price," Frazee said. "but there is no pending deal of importance."

SITUATION GRAVE

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 23.—Seven thousand Turkish soldiers in civilian attire, have poured into Thrace in the past week and are now wearing uniforms, according to a report received here today. The situation on the Turko-Greek frontier in Thrace is extremely grave. The allies are taking precautions to maintain order due to inflamed Turkish opinion.

Mrs. Adelaide H. Imler of 334 West Park avenue spent Sunday in Burbank at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank P. Stearns. Mrs. Stearns, who is a sister of Mrs. Imler, was formerly Miss Cora Hickman of this city.

Mrs. Irra Wheeler of 102 West California avenue left today for Lima, Ohio, where she will visit for several months with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John L. Yant. She will go via New Orleans and expects to be gone about three months.

Mrs. H. R. Parker of Shreveport, Louisiana, arrived in Glendale yesterday and is staying at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Alan Dunlop of 203 West Burchett street. Mrs. Parker is enjoying a tour of the Pacific coast.

Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Fellows of 719 North Maryland avenue are expecting their niece, Miss Helen Davies of Philadelphia to arrive here the last of this month. They will then all motor to the Grand Canyon and farther north, returning to Glendale after a several weeks' motor tour. Miss Davies will visit here for several days.

Miss Louise Fambrough and Miss Virginia Fambrough of 206 North Orange street, attended a shower given for Miss Dorothy Howes of Los Angeles, a June bride-to-be. The shower was given by the sorority of which the Misses Fambroughs are members. Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Fambrough are having the pleasure of entertaining as their house geust, Mrs. Beckham of Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Fellows of 332 Ethel street have recently received word that Mr. Fellows' mother, Mrs. William Wallace Fellows of Arizona, is visiting her mother in Calexico, who is almost 100 years old. Mrs. Fellows intends to make her son and daughter-in-law a visit before returning to her home in Arizona. Mr. and Mrs. Fellows, and Mr. and Mrs. George Crisman enjoyed a delightful motor trip Sunday to Santa Barbara.

MINOR OPERATION

A minor operation was performed this morning upon Mrs. J. G. Monahan of 205 East Stocker street at the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital.

DEATHS---FUNERALS

JESSE M. BETHEL

Jesse M. Bethel died last night, Tuesday, May 22, 1923 at his home in Sunland at the age of 38 years.

Mr. Bethel is survived by his mother and brother of Cleveland, Ohio, and a sister, Mrs. Margaret Morehead, also of Cleveland, who was with him during his last illness and death.

Mrs. Moreland will leave tomorrow for Cleveland, where she will take her brother's body for funeral and burial.

Arrangements are in charge of the L. G. Scovern company.

RALPH L. GALBRAITH

The body of Ralph L. Galbraith, who died May 14 at his home at 110 Eagle avenue, Eagle Rock, will be taken to Huntington, Ind., for services and burial. Mrs. Galbraith and her parents will leave with the remains tomorrow.

The L. G. Scovern company is in charge.

REDUCTION SALE NOW UNDER WAY

Grossman-Miller Furniture Company Makes Cut in Price on Stock

Announcement is made of a great furniture reduction sale by the Grossman-Miller Furniture Company, 246 North Brand boulevard, $15,000 worth of high-grade furniture, including an entire stock of rugs and phonographs, to be sold at greatly reduced prices.

Isaac Grossman, who makes the announcement, states that everything in the store is reduced and nothing reserved. Prices are way down on dining-room suites, dressers, chests, living-room suites, bed-room suites, beds, bassinetts, lamps, davenports, refrigerators, mattresses, bedsprings, rugs of the Wilton and Axminster design, together with velvet, tapestry, ingrain and grass rugs.

"No one can afford to miss this sale," says Mr. Grossman. "Much of what we are offering is below wholesale prices, and lower than these articles have ever been sold in this section before.

"You may think you have bought furniture and household goods at bargain prices but never in your life have you bought them at the prices we are offering in this sale."

Mr. Grossman announces that the store will be open nights during this sale.

Clara Phillips' Story 'Trap,' Officers Say

LOS ANGELES, May 23.—Clara Phillips' "own" story of her escape from the county jail here last December, in which she said Jesse Carsen, under arrest with her and her "baby sister," Etta May Jackson, at Tegucigalpa, Honduras, sawed the bars of her cell and was the only person to assist her, was regarded by local officials today as a 'trap" to mislead them in their investigation of her getaway.

The opinion was expressed at the district attorney's office that Mrs. Phillips is attempting to shield others who aided her by claiming Carsen engineered her flight alone. Wary of such a trap officers here regarded Mrs. Phillips' story, told to Under-Sheriff Gene Biscailuz and Deputy Sheriff Hunter at Tegucigalpa, skeptically.

In her story to the officers, Mrs. Phillips declared Carsen sawed the bars to her cell from the outside, lifted her to the roof of the jail building from which she fled to an automobile in the street below. From there, she claims, Carsen took her to a house in Whittier boulevard, where she remained in hiding until she and Carsen left for New Orleans.

Lockers at National Guard Armory Rifled

What was stolen last night from the local armory of the National Guard?

Patrolman Louis Nunn about 3 o'clock this morning noticed a light in the hallway to the north of the Brand Boulevard Branch of the Pacific Southwest Trust & Savings bank. An investigation revealed the fact that the quarters of the National Guard had been entered and a number of lockers broken open.

Quartermaster W. H. Billings of 356 Vine street was notified, but he stated that he would be unable to tell until the next drill night whether much had been stolen.

REFUSES NAME

Francis Morgan of 1636 North Verdugo Road reports to the police that a motorist ran into his bicycle yesterday afternoon and then refused to give his name or settle the damages.

MARKETS

NEW YORK, May 23.—The stock market closed irregular today. In the final hour trading slackened materially, the result of a falling off of the industrials.

U. S. Steel lost its entire advance at 96¼ and Baldwin retained only a fraction of today's gain at 126½. Studebaker ruled around 108½, a net fractional advance. Pan-American went down a point but held well above yesterday's final prices.

Heaviness developed in the independent steel stocks, notably Bethlehem Steel and Crucible, showing net losses of about a point at 53 and 65¼.

Government bonds unchanged and other bonds steady.

Stock sales today totalled 861,800 shares; bonds $10,322,000.

In Grain Markets

CHICAGO, May 23.—Grain prices turned downward today in the face of adverse crop reports from private wires. Much wheat acreage in Ohio was reported being turned over and replanted in oats. The close was well under yesterday's last in all grains.

Wheat closed ½ to 1c lower. Corn finished ⅝ to 1c off. Oats were off ⅛. Provisions were dull and prices were lower at the finish.

SOCIAL EVENTS

Golden Wedding

Instead of featuring the "June Bride," the spring social season in Glendale is offering interest with its golden wedding anniversaries.

The next event of this kind will take place Sunday, when Mr. and Mrs. Joseph William Kemper of 1017 Melrose avenue will celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding, which took place May 27, 1873 at the old homestead at Gallaudet, Indiana.

Mr. and Mrs. Kemper spent thirty-six years in or near Indianapolis and for the past fourteen years have resided in southern California. They lived for eleven years in Los Angeles and for the last three years in Glendale.

Their golden anniversary dinner will be given Sunday noon by their three daughters Mesdames Thomas A. Coppock, H. A. Conger and C. W. Farmer at the Conger home at 1157 North Brand boulevard.

In the afternoon from 3 o'clock on Mr. and Mrs. Kemper will receive their friends at their own home on Melrose avenue.

Informal Dance

Miss Mildred McCoubrey of 1831 Gardena Avenue, entertained a number of friends last night at her home with an informal dancing party in the celebration of her birthday anniversary.

At a late hour a delicious supper was served. The table decorations were carried out with spring flowers and a large white birthday cake formed the center piece.

Those present were Misses Jean Hicks, Elsie Apsit, Dorothy Woods, Kathleen Woods, Dorothy Morton, Florence McCoubrey, Messrs Ed Ehockley, Ray Stinson, Hubert Woods, Cyril Hollway, George Hastings, Albert McCoubrey, Dr. Tunnison, Mr. and Mrs. I. L. Bullock and the hostess Miss Mildred McCoubrey.

Visit Settlement

About twenty members of the Women's Missionary society of the Tropico Presbyterian church will spend the day at the settlement house at Monrovia, on Thursday. They will leave Glendale about 9 o'clock with well filled lunch baskets. This work is under the Presbyterian board and is in charge of Miss Phoebe Snell of Glendale and the society here are especially interested in the work.

Rev. G. C. Rodriquez, the pastor of the churches in Azusa and Monrovia, will be the speaker of the day and will tell of the work done among the Mexicans. Miss Jennie Rorsch, also of Glendale, has charge of the settlement work in Azusa.

Spanish Music

Spanish music will entertain Friday afternoon at the meeting of the Music Section of the Tuesday Afternoon club in the clubhouse auditorium.

Mrs. Charles Meadows has arranged the program, to include dance numbers by Miss Viola Yorba; harp selections by Mrs. Hazel Schertzinger Bruster, well-known harpist and sister of Victor Schertzinger; vocal numbers by Madame Catherine Shank, and a paper on "Spanish Music," by Mrs. Alexander Mitchell.

This will be the last meeting of the section for the year, and Mrs. Colin Cable will be hostess and Mrs. Roberta Young accompanist.

Honored Guest

Mrs. Charles H. Toll, president-elect of the Los Angeles District Federation of Women's Clubs, is to be honored guest Tuesday, May 29, when the board of the Tuesday Afternoon club will entertain the 100 life members, all new members received since June 28, 1922, and all chairmen of committees and curators of all sections.

This will be the final big club event before Memorial Day, when the club led by Mrs. Lillian Dow, patriotic chairman, will take part in the observances at Grandview and Forest Lawn.

Sorority Affair

Dr. Caroline Paine aJckman, of 515 North Kenwood street, was recently hostess to the members of the Alpha chapter of the Kappa Psi Delta sorority at a delightfully appointed dinner. The affair was given in honor of Miss Elise Carlseh and Mrs. Lily G. Harris, who are members of the graduating class of the College of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons.

Fill Hope Chest

One of the big attractions at the industrial exposition is to be the well filled hope chest offered by the Women's Auxiliary of the local Legion post. Under the chairmanship of Mrs. E. W. W. Hayward the Auxiliary has filled the beautiful chest with linens and pretty things of all kinds and the holder of the winning coupon will be considered lucky.

Those contributing to the chest are Mesdames H. L. Anderson, John T. Cate, Mildred Cline, John C. Dunn, Mary Drake, Johanna Edwards, E. U. Emery, Gertrude Frug, Nell Few, Nellie Snow Hyer, E. P. Hayward, E. W. W. Hayward, Stella Hock, C. T. Jones, Emil Keifer, Margaret Kaeding, S. C. Leppelman, Wilbur Lee, N. W. McBryde, Helen S. Moir, Robert Plume, Maud Potter, Virginia Rowley, G. H. Poem Invitation

With the following clever verses, invitations were issued by Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Muhleman of 222 East Garfield street, to relatives and intimate friends to a 6 o'clock dinner on Thursday, May 24, to celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding day. Mr. and Mrs. Muhleman were married in Newport, Ky., twenty-five years ago.

It is an old-established custom for man and wife,
On the twenty-fifth anniversary of their married life,
To invite all their kin from far and near
To gather together for a time of good cheer.

Now, Old Father Time, has figured
this day
For us will arrive on the twenty-fourth of May.
Not daring to ignore this custom of yore
We'll have, so to speak, a "wedding encore."

A "silver" anniversary is no ordinary affair,
For, look, what happens to the ordinary pair;
So each of you who receives these few lines of verse
Are invited to attend "for better or worse."

Class Banquet

Dr. Robert Alexander Cummins, member of the faculty of the University of Southern California, who has just closed a course of lectures in University Extension work on Project Methods before a class of teachers in Glendale, was guest of honor at a banquet given by the class last night at the Harriett Mae Tea Room. Covers were laid for thirty-six. Miss Carrie Noble and Miss Elsa Brennaman were special guests. Members of this class are teachers of Eagle Rock, Lankershim, Burbank and Glendale city schools. Prof. Norman R. Whytock presided as toastmaster. The class roll was called, and each member contributed to the fun of the evening's program.

Dr. Cuminms was presented with a testimonial, signed by every member of the class, with each autograph followed by a written expression of personal appreciation of his lectures. This Extension class has assembled at Wilson avenue school, Tuesday night of each week.

Transact Business

Members of Mary Jane Gillette Tent No. 18, Daughters of Veterans, held their regular business meeting last night in the American Legion Hall, with the president, Mrs. E. B. Moore in the chair.

During the meeting Mrs. Robert Danner gave an interesting report of the California and Nevada Department Convention of the G. A. R. held reecntly at Modesto. Mrs. Danner attended as first delegate. The president, Mrs. E. B. Moore and the past president, Mrs. C. E. Peck also attended and they each gave a short talk regarding the convention.

Plans were also completed relative to the Daughters taking part in the Memorial Day exercises and marching in the parade.

CHICAGO, May 23.—Slang, as a medium of expression, is not objectionable, provided it is not overdone.

This is the opinion held by Prof. W. F. Bryan, of Northwestern University, who is an instructor in composition and an authority on Chaucer and old English literature.

"The person who first described a lovesick couple as a Sheik and a Sheba was almost a poet," Professor Bryan declared. The professor, however, emphasized the word "first."

matter was referred to the schools committee, Principal George U. Boyse declaring that, in his opinion, the purchase of the school plant would be a sound course in the event that it could be shown that its conversion into a civic center would not interfere with school interests, as it is probable that the schools would require the use of the grounds at least until June, 1924.

Reports On Depot

A report by George H. Bentley, of the depot committee, stated that the work on the new Southern Pacific station here, that is to be located at the foot of Cerritos street, will begin within a few days and will be rushed to completion as fast as possible. Mr. Bentley and members of his committee had a conference with the Southern Pacific Co's. general manager and chief engineer last Friday, when they were advised that the contract has been let and that only one minor detail remained at that time to be settled before the work started, and he believed that the way is now clear for the contractors to begin.

W. E. Hewitt stated that, at a meeting of the sewer committee with the officials of Los Angeles, the Board of Public Works of that city asked for further information in the subject and the matter has been postponed for another week before a final decision will be reached. Mr. Hewitt also reported on the address delivered by Secretary of War Weeks at the banquet in the Ambassador Hotel in Los Angeles on Monday evening, at which he, Jesse E. Smith and E. F. Sanders, secretary, were present and from which they drew a vast store of inspiration regarding the value of the United States army, together with the assurance from Secretary Weeks that the government intends to foster the development of Los Angeles and its harbor in every possible way.

Expansion Campaign

Secretary Sanders reported on the progress that is being made on the plans for the expansion campaign of the Chamber of Commerce, that is to be started on June 4, the day following the close of the Glendale Industrial Exposition. Representatives of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce have been here making a survey of conditions in Glendale, in order to be in a position to launch their campaign without the loss of a single day when the time comes to start.

The selection of a chairman for the exposition reception committee that will welcome the distinguished visitors to the exposition was left to the committee headed by L. H. Wilson. Mayor Spencer Robinson, who, it had been planned, was to head the committee and take the lead in the opening ceremonies, is too ill to be present and has canceled all of his engagements on the orders of his medical attendants, preparing to leave town for a rest before resuming his official and business activities.

Some Early History

George M. Cornwall, editor of The Timberman, of Portland, Ore., a journal devoted to the lumber trade, was present as the guest of George M. Bentley, and gave his recollections of his early residence in Los Angeles when the plaza was the center of the town's activities. In the course of his recent journeys over the country Mr. Cornwall declared that he had been told by points as far apart as El Paso, Tex., and British Columbia that Southern California is drawing many people from those regions to settle here and to aid in building up this state.

A resolution from the San Luis Obispo Chamber of Commerce, protesting the cutting of the appropriation for the California Polytechnic school and condemning the action of Governor Richardson, was read to the board, with the request that a similar resolution be adopted by the Glendale organiaztion. C. D. Lusby opposed the request on the ground that it tended to lead the Chamber of Commerce into a political issue and, further, that the passage of the resolution would work no benefit to the Chamber of Commerce. His motion to table was lost, and, on motion of L. H. Wilson, the communication was referred to the schools committee.

To Boost Glendale

A request was received for a number of copies of the June issue of the Arrowhead Magaine, to be taken to the National Real Estate convention that is to be held at Cleveland, Ohio, next month, by Dr. Jessie A. Russell, who will represent Glendale at the convention.

Participation in the proposed Monroe Centennial exposition, that is to be held at Los Angeles during July and August was discountenanced by L. H. Wilson, who stated that he and his committee had not been able to obtain definite assurances that the program would be carried out as outlined, and the plan that had been under consideration for the Glendale Chamber of Commerce to participate in the exposition in connection with the San Fernando Valley Chamber of Commerce association will be held in abeyance for the present.

Bernard Phillips in Insurance Office Here

"Experience has taught me that when a citizen sees a life insurance agent approaching him on the sidewalk, he usually finds some excuse to cross the street and dodge around the corner in double time," said Bernard Phillips, district manager of the Northern Life Insurance Company. "But that same little bit of experience has taught me something else also. I am here to work both sides of the street and all the corners."

Phillips recently opened offices at suite 17, Cole & Damerell building, Glendale. Arthur P. Huntington, California supervisor of the Northern Life Insurance Company, highly recommends Phillips as one of the livest wires in the game.

"The best kind of insurance to take out," continued Phillips, "is that which you can get the most out of at the least expense.

"Equip your little runabout with wheels, wings and a rudder is my motto."

Appliance 'Collector' Arrested at Pomona

The office appliance "collector," who visited several local offices after business hours recently, was arrested yesterday in Pomona and sent to the county jail at Riverside. He was unable to explain why he was trying to sell a Sundstrand Adding Machine which was listed as stolen from the local office of the Oakmont Country club.

Col. J. D. Fraser, chief of the police department, stated this morning that he expected to go to Riverside this afternoon to bring the man back to Glendale. An attempt is to be made to find out what happened to the Remington typewriter stolen from the Oakmont Country club, the Underwood typewriter and the check writer stolen from the office of Contractor W. J. Curren of 221 West Broadway and the Remington portable typewriter stolen from H. C. Schumacher whose establishment at 109 South Brand boulevard is known as the Glendale Typewriter Shop.

SLIGHT DAMAGE

Charles W. Cramer of 316 South Adams Street told the police that he was driving south on Glendale avenue about 7:30 o'clock last night when a machine driven by Richard Ball of 432 West Windsor Road cut in ahead of him, hitting the left front wheel of his car and damaging its fender.

At Luncheon Table

Among the others seated at the luncheon table were Jesse Smith Rev. C. M. Calderwood, Dr. James Winnard, Dr. R. V. Hogue, Elder R. W. Parmele, Rev. Michael Galvin, A. T. Cowan, George Karr, D. Ripley Jackson, Rev. H. C. Mullen, Rev. Philip K. Kemp, Dr. H. C. Funk, R. A. Eastman, A. L. Ferguson, Rev. W. E. Edmonds, W. A. Horn, W. H. Reeves, A. H. Dibbern, V. M. Hollister, Rev. C. J. Livingston, Col. J. D. Fraser, David Black, R. F. Kitterman, Rev. C. A. Cole, Owen Emery and Hugo Kirchhofer.

Hostesses were Mesdames Daniel Campbell, Frank Ayars, H. E. Bartlett, J. T. Crampton, John C. Dunn, Andrew P. Findlay, E. W. W. Hayward, C. E. Houston, A. H. Montgomery, A. A. Barton, M. E. Plasterer and John Robert White.

The luncheon table was arranged in a hollow square in the beautiful banquet room. A simple decorative scheme was used, large bowls of brilliant yellow coreopsis and greenery expressing the club colors, yellow and gold.

In extending the greeting of the company to the stranger in their midst, Mrs. Campbell accorded the honor of the blessing of the luncheon on Rev. Michael Galvin, successor to Father James S. O'Neill as priest of the Holy Family Catholic parish.

The menu served was skilfully planned and enjoyed and the informal dining hour was enlivened by clever original yells and songs by the hostesses.

There were but two speakers, Mrs. Campbell, who was presiding hostess, and Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, first vice-president and chairman of ways and means, who, in her report to date, not only proved herself an alert and successful business woman, but also showed the support club members and friends are giving towards liquidating the building and furnishing debts. Her report showed total receipts to the amount of $5,300.

Show Appreciation

In her informal greeting to the company, Mrs. Campbell said the luncheon had been planned to express appreciation to the benefactors and friends of the club for their support and good wishes; to afford them an opportunity to see the clubhouse and see club activities in operation and become acquainted with club officers and members; and to afford the club officers an opportunity to present reports of club accomplishments other than building and financing the new clubhouse.

She outlined most comprehensively the principles and aims of the organization and administration of the club and of its participation in civic, religious and social affairs. The outstanding civic participation of the club has been offering the banquet, palm and reception rooms for one night a week to the Community Service organization for wholesome entertainments for Glendale young people. This work is to be developed by R. Ernest Tucker, Community Service executive and a special secretary, experienced in such work.

Mr. Campbell's informal talk was most impressively and eloquently given.

"There has been a criticism made that the Tuesday Afternoon club has done nothing but build and furnish this building during the year," said Mrs. Campbell. "It is to offset this criticism that you have been invited here today. We want you to see our home, enjoy its hospitality, see the club in operation and hear reports from the various committees.

"We, the directors, are working for and are heartily in favor of every civic and religious movement for the betterment of Glendale. We are in accord with the aims of the churches and we want you to know that we are back of you at all times.

For Young People

"The Tuesday Afternoon club is keenly interested in the city's young people, particularly the young people who have time to spend on the street corners, the young people whose mothers and fathers don't know where they are and don't care to know.

"We have offered this beautiful hall to Community Service for use one night each week and on these nights good, clean, wholesome entertainment is to be provided for our boys and girls. Sometimes it will be a lecture, sometimes a live 'sing' with all kinds of music, and perhaps once or twice a year a well-chaperoned dance. Is it not better that our young people be in a well-lighted, well-chaperoned dance hall than out joy riding or sitting in unlighted automobiles?"

In closing, Mrs. Campbell cited the Biblical passage "Whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honorable, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely and of good report, if there be any virtue, if there be any praise, think on these things," as the official slogan by which the official board administered club affairs.

At the close of the luncheon hour, the pleasure and appreciation of the guests were expressed by Rev. C. A. Cole, who called for a vote of thanks, heartily voiced by all present.

Business Meeting

The annual business meeting occupied the afternoon until a late hour and was crowded full of matters of importance. Of course, the election results are of first importance and these were given by Mrs. Frank C. Ayars, chairman of the election board, who prefaced her report with the startling announcement that out of 778 eligible voters only 160 had cast ballots.

The final count showed Mrs. Daniel Campbell, re-elected president, and a like honor accorded all members of her staff excepting Mrs. John C. Dunn, recording secretary, and Mesdames A. P. Findlay and John Robert White, directors.

Mrs. William Hunter was chosen to succeed Mrs. Dunn, who retired from the board to take up duties in the Los Angeles District Federation of Women's clubs.

Mesdames Lillian Dow and J. E. Sargent will succeed Mesdames Findlay and White, whose terms as directors had expired.

Other Features

Other outstanding events of the business session were the conferring of the honorary life membership on Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson by Mrs. Campbell; amending of the by-laws to raise the initiation fee to $25 to take effect July 1, this will probably do away with the section dues; amending the by-laws to provide that club members past 70 years, who have belonged to the club for five consecutive years may become complimentary members with no dues; amending the by-laws to provide that dues unpaid for one month will ultimately result in the forfeiture of membership; amending the by-laws regarding absentee members, guests and guest cards; amending the by-laws to provide for regular meetings of the club every Tuesday; amending the by-laws to provide that membership in a federated club will assist a woman in becoming a member of the Tuesday Afternoon club; amending the by-laws raising the quorum to fifty; and, lastly, amending the by-laws raising the life membership fee to $250.

Mrs. Opal Greenwalt served as acting parliamentarian because Mrs. E. W. W. Hayward was absent with election board duties.

It was during a lull in the business proceedings that the club company was called to stand in memory of Mrs. Mary Howard Gridley Braly, past president and honorary member, whose death occurred April 26, 1923.

Made Reports

In announcing gifts Mrs. Campbell stated that the two pine trees on the lawn had been gifts from Mrs. R. R. Ravis and presented by Freeman McG. Kelley. Mr. Kelley, who was present, also gave porch plants and in addition donated his services in assisting in laying out the club house grounds. Mr. Kelley was accorded a hearty vote of thanks for his help.

Of the reports given undoubtedly those given by Mrs. M. E. Plasterer, treasurer, and Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, chairman of ways and means were of most interest.

Mrs. Plasterer, who was justly and highly praised for her efficiency, reported to date from the building fund, total receipts $93,117.36; disbursements $71,659.83; leaving a balance of $21,457.53.

Her report on the general fund was, receipts $7,458.97; disbursements $5,323.90, leaving a balance of $2,135.07.

Mrs. Plasterer will give a complete report at the final meeting in June.

Mrs. Montgomery's report has been awaited with interest by the entire city of Glendale. Mrs. Montgomery is recognized as a woman with exceptional executive ability and she has been in a great measure responsible for the financial success of the club's building project. Her report, which was only complete to date, was prefaced with words of thanks to club members and friends for their loyal co-operation.

Her financial report, which will be given completely at the final meeting in June, read yesterday:

Beefsteak Dinner	$ 102.95
Chain Parties	252.25
Cr. Men's Concession	93.30
Pendroy's Sale	125.00
Fashion Show	232.00
Society Circus	2,160.00
Auction	352.00
Barn Dance	77.00
Pledge Money	35.00
Concert Hollywood Bowl	20.00
St. Patrick's Day Luncheon	323.00
Card Party	31.25
Birthday March	32.99
Cooked Food	130.91
Mrs. McNutt, contributor	7.50
Carnival of Months	700.00
Dinner Dances and Luncheons	624.45
Making a total of	$5,300.00

Another report of interest was that from Mrs. C. W. Houston, second vice president, and chairman of auditorium chairs. She stated that of the 763 chairs in the auditorium 465 have been sold; twenty-one promised, making a total of 485. The club members and guests yesterday were interested in seeing the name plates that have been placed on 250 of the chairs.

Reports were heard from the chairmen of committees, but the reports of Mrs. Campbell, president, curators of the sections and complete reports of financial officers were reserved for the final meeting in June.

The club women were pleased yesterday over the report given by Mrs. Freeman McG. Kelley, chairman of programs, showing that the programs for the year have cost $600 and leave $100, which the program committee plans to spend for a stereopticon and motion picture curtain for the auditorium stage.

All reports are to be printed at the end of the year in a small pamphlet and these sent out to all club members and to friends of the club.

WINS PUBLICITY, LOSES IN LOVE

Woman Who First Thought Of Fight in Shelby Takes Own Life

SHELBY, Mont., May 23.—A woman first conceived the idea of a heavyweight championship prize fight between Jack Dempsey and Tommy Gibbons as a "promotion scheme" for Shelby—"the fastest growing town in the world"—and while her dream was realized in the final signing of articles in Chicago for the Fourth of July bout, the "original woman fight promoter of the Northwest" has taken her own life.

In January of this year Mrs. Alice Benson, proprietor of a men's furnishing store here, suggested to American Legion members the great possibilities of a championship bout in this booming oil town. Immediately oil prospectors, land owners and merchants in the whole countryside took up the idea from which has resulted in negotiations for the greatest outdoor fight in more than two years.

Mrs. Benson enlisted the aid of a Great Falls business man in her project and the two were designated by the American Legion to start plans for securing the bout for Shelby.

Loses In Love

Three months later Mrs. Benson is said to have been the victim of an unrequited love affair and she killed herself by taking a dose of poison in a Great Falls hotel.

Alice Benson probably never saw a boxing contest, but she knew the value of publicity, and even as early as February she had ordered a huge stock of goods for her Shelby store in anticipation of the hordes of fight fans to whom she expected to sell souvenirs here.

Mayor James Johnson, of Shelby, declared that he would "tell the world" that Mrs. Benson was the first to mention the possibilities of the bout, as he revealed for the first time Mrs. Benson's "dream" that will come true on July 4 next.

Canoe, Handcar Rush Youth to Hospital

OLDTOWN, Maine, May 23.—The life of Wesley Eldridge, 16, was saved here by an emergency operation after the youth was taken over an eight-mile canoe trip on flood waters and further travel on a railroad handcar. While the boy was being brought here surgeons from Bangor rushed here in a relay of boat, automobile and horse transportation. The operation was successful.

PLATFORM HAS BIBLICAL PLANK

Voliva's Theocratic Party Called Panacea for Ills Of U. S. and World

By JACK CEJNAR
For International News Service

CHICAGO, May 23.—Zion City, Ill., famed for its wars on smokers, drinkers, dancers, women's dresses and Chicago speeders, has given birth to a political platform which, if the assertions of the Theocratic party that controls Zion City are correct, will prove a panacea for all the political ills of this country, and every other country.

Wilbur Glenn Voliva, Zion City's "overseer," who has ruled the Zionites for a score of years with a hand of iron, is proposing to inject the "Rule of God into every department of the government."

The recent installation of a mayor and five aldermen at Zion City was made the occasion of the first public reading of the planks of the Theocratic platform, which, among others, names the Ten Commandments as one.

Long Time Mayor

The platform was read by Mayor W. H. Clendinen, outgoing and incoming mayor, who boasts of the distinction of having been mayor probably for a longer period than any other person in America:

1. We declare our loyalty to the constitution and laws of the United States.

2. We affirm that both the constitution and the laws are capable of amendment and improvement in a Theocratic direction, and we simply propose to advocate the making of such alterations in the manner provided by the laws of the United States.

3. We declare the motto of our party to be unalterable and unassailable truth, that "Where God Rules, Man Prospers."

4. Our object is the establishment of the rule of God in every department of government by the free will of the people.

5. Our conviction is that the Holy Scriptures, which contain the Ten Commandments and the inspired gospel of Jesus Christ, the Son of God, constitute the principles of all righteous government for the individual, for the nation and for the whole world.

Must "Toe Mark"

Zion City has a population of about 8,000 and is located about forty miles from the loop district of Chicago, in a northwesterly direction.

Chicagoans have learned by long experience that they are made to "toe the mark" in Zion City and do not linger within its precincts.

Fines collected from Chicago speeders net Zion City a good revenue.

Pork is barred, by Overseer Voliva's official decree, from Zion City and its tables in accordance with the old Mosaic law.

Movies with love scenes are taboo.

Dresses with necks cut lower than the modest allowance permitted by Voliva are liable to land the wearer in the city bastile.

Skirts must not be worn so high as to render "occasion for remarks on the part of the opposite sex."

"It would be wiser for the girl to wear a sunflower," Voliva declared, "and put the money in the bank."

LAND ON RIVER

Planes that can descend to the surface of a river and then be navigated to a landing are being tried in the London-Paris air service to bring passengers nearer their destinations.

OPTIMISTIC OF TRADE OUTLOOK

Business Men See Good Times In Respective Sections of U. S.

NEW YORK, May 23.—Business men who attended the National Association of Manufacturers' meeting here were optimistic today concerning the business outlook in their respective sections.

John Trix, president of the American Injector Company, Detroit, said business is good—very good. "We are going at breakneck speed. We've got to stop or something is going to happen. In Detroit we are short of labor. automobile manufacturers have orders enough to keep them busy for several months."

Labor Shortage

Clarence H. Wilson of Boston and manager of the Employers' Association of Eastern Massachusetts, said: "We suffer a great deal from the shortage of labor. The laborers in and around Boston are attracted to the west by promises of higher wages, overtime pay, steady work, etc. The truth of the matter is they are employed for a short time during the automobile rush season and then they are out of work."

Harold Smith, president Illinois Tool Works, Chicago, and chairman of the industrial training committee, National Metal Trades Association, said:

"Business is in a very healthy condition in Chicago. The falling off that seems to be taking place in the rest of the country is not so evident in Chicago at this time.

California Prosperous

"On the other hand, thoughtful business people are watching the situation very closely. The tendency is to manufacture only what can be sold immediately, and where inventory is necessary a close watch is kept."

Robert Dollar, president of the Dollar Steamship line, San Francisco, said: "The national demand for the products of western soil and forests has been reflected in booming business conditions in California.

"We have solved most of our labor troubles and our workmen are busily and happily employed in our shops and factories, on the farms and in the lumber woods."

Berlin Overrun With Dogs Without Licenses

BERLIN, May 23.—In a determined effort to add to the city revenues the tax authorities, aided by the dog catcher, are hot on the trail of dogs roaming the streets without licenses.

The canine population of Berlin at the end of 1922 was 170,745 dogs of all sorts, as against 135,674 the year before. Most of the dogs apparently are of the famous German police dog breed, with daschunds second.

Wisconsin Maids to Have Triple Nuptials

SHAWNEE, Wis., May 23.—One of the first triple weddings ever held in this section of Wisconsin will be solemnized this summer when three sisters will have the nuptial knots tied at one service. The feminine principals will be Misses Margaret, Esther and Eva Cotton, and the ceremony will be performed at their home. The young women are school teachers.

Plumbing—Hoffman & Pixley, $885; John Hokom, $1018; Coker & Taylor, $906.

LA CRESCENTA

MUCH BUILDING IN NEW TRACT

Honolulu Acres Proves to Be Popular as Site for New Homes

Mr. and Mrs. Owers, proprietors of the Court Tea Room, in Glendale, visited Mrs. Darrow at her home yesterday.

Letters from Rev. Kelso state he is enjoying his eastern visit very much, and will return in three or four weeks.

Much building is being done in Honolulu Acres, and the home built there by Mr. Potts of Montrose has been sold and moved on its original lot, which will now have two houses on it.

The building committee of the Episcopal church will meet this afternoon to discuss erecting the church on its property at the corner of Michigan and Rosemont avenues. Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Wellington will be hostesses for the afternoon at their home "The Mount," where the meeting will take place.

Central Improvement Will Be Discussed

All people interested in the improvement of Central avenue are invited to be present at 7:30 o'clock tonight, May 23, in the offices of the Charles B. Guthrie company, 110 West Broadway.

This meeting is in line with recent efforts to gain for this important artery of traffic the attention it deserves in the development of the city.

Street lighting and paving for Central avenue will be among the matters taken up at this meeting, and those active in the movement feel that all property owners and others concerned should attend.

Be sure to see Rainbow Valley Booth at the Exposition.—Advertisement. 5-22-23-24-25-26

BABY CRIB CONCEALS VICTIM

Woman And Infant Are Being Held In Jail

A. J. Story Mrs. Marie Brennemer Vetter

With her 2-months-old baby clutched tightly in her arms, Mrs. Marie Brennemer Vetter, of Glendale, Long Island, is in Queens county jail, at Long Island city, with her husband, Ernest, both charged with the murder of Alonzo J. Storey, of Richmond Hill, Long Island. They are charged with beating and slashing their victim to death, dismembering his body and throwing it into the ocean. They swear they killed in self defense. Vetter had accused his wife of being too friendly with Storey and asserted that Storey was the father of her child. He forced her to lure Storey to their home, where a fight ensued, in which Storey was slain. The dismembered body—concealed in Vetter's automobile, under a swinging crib in which the baby slept—was taken to the beach and thrown into the ocean.

AFRICAN RELICS GO IN MUSEUM

H. A. Snow, Hunter-Naturalist, to Present Rare Gift To California City

OAKLAND, Cal., May 23.—Backed by the civic and feminine leaders of Oakland, preliminary plans have been presented to Mayor John L. Davie for the erection of a museum to house the $2,000,000 collection brought back by the hunter and naturalist, H. A. Snow, who will present his collection to his home city.

A site on the shores of beautiful Lake Merritt, near the center of Oakland, has been purchased at a cost of over $300,000, and the building is to be completed within two years. The site is one of great natural beauty and will make a fitting background for the artistic building and also a large zoo, which will house live specimens for such of the animal life of the dark continent as can be brought back.

The building is designed after the early California tradition and is treated in an architectural manner typical of the Spanish prototype of the early architecture of the state. It will be structurally a hollow concrete box, with a tiled roof.

On Main Floor

Entering the main floor from the boulevard through impressive portals, the visitor will proceed into a spacious octagonal lobby, where the offices and checkroom will be located. Thence, through a loggia overlooking a typical Spanish patio, with its foliage and water fountains, one will ascend to the main floor by stairways to the right and left, which complete the enclosure of the patio.

The museum will be three stories in height, the first and second floors being reserved for display and the top floor for a large lecture room. Each of the main floors has an area space of more than an acre, and the total floor space available is more than two and one-half acres.

When completed the collection will be the largest and most complete exhibition of African natural history in the world, lacking only two very rare animals not often seen by man—the okapi and the pygmy elephant; and these Snow plans to get on his next expedition.

Blind Read More Than Those With Eyesight

SACRAMENTO, May 23.—People who have lost their sight read more as a class than their sighted neighbors, according to records of the book exchange department of the state library which were made public today by Milton J. Ferguson, state librarian.

Despite the fact that many of the blind have never learned to read by the raised-letter system and hence do not read at all, Ferguson stated the state library collection of 14,937 books for the blind is insufficient. The 1200 blind people in California keep the collection constantly in circulation.

Many of the blind patrons of the library take out an average of five books per week, the state librarian said.

Warns Great Britain To Readjust Defenses

LONDON, May 23. — Great Britain must re-adjust her defenses said Lord Birkenhead, former lord chancellor, in an article in John Bull today.

"The British cannot control their destinies while another nation knows that in twelve hours it could destroy the nerve center of the empire.

"The country is safe only so long as it can be protected by the strong arm of its own citizens. We must all maintain our navy. We scrapped battleships in accordance with our undertakings at the Washington conference. Other nations have not yet taken that course, among them a nation—which is allied with us and friendly towards us, but which at this moment is diplomatically divergent from our views."

Army Monoplane to Make Return Flight

SAN DIEGO, Cal., May 23.—The giant army monoplane, T-2, famous for the record-making nonstop trans-continental flight, will leave here tomorrow morning for Washington, D. C. piloted by Lieutenants Macready and Kelly, who flew the plane from New York to San Diego three weeks ago without a stop.

The return trip of the T-2 will be in the nature of a triumphal flight to permit the larger cities en route to celebrate her historic achievement.

VIEWS OF JAPANESE

TOKIO, May 23.—"There can be no true friendship between Japan and America as long as the United States pursues its discriminatory immigration law attitude toward Japan," said the Nichi Nichi, an influential newspaper, today, discussing an address made in New York by Japanese Ambassador Hanihara.

FIFTY INJURED

WINCHESTER, Mass., May 23.—Fifty persons were reported injured, two seriously, in a train wreck near the Winchester highlands station today. The train, the New Hampshire express on the Boston and Maine railroad, was traveling at a high rate of speed, when it left the rails. A split switch was responsible.

ONE KILLED, TWO HURT

DENVER, May 23.—Fireman Tanner of McCook, Neb., was killed and two other trainmen fatally injured early today when passenger train No. 2 on the Burlington railroad, Denver to Chicago, was derailed two miles east of Benkleman, Neb., according to reports to the Burlington office in this city.

GIVES OUT WARNING

PARIS, May 23.—The French minister at Athens today was instructed by the foreign office to warn the Greeks of the extreme gravity of any move which might be interpreted as a military offensive against Turkey.

ACTION IS URGED ON CIVIC CENTER

West Glendale Improvement Association Asks Both Boards to Act

Both local school boards last night received and filed resolutions urging the reorganization of the local school system and recommending the transformation of the present high school property into a civic center, from the West Glendale Improvement association.

These resolutions, which were signed by John R. Grey of 667 West Doran street and A. R. Goodale of 535 Patterson avenue, were as follows:

"Whereas, on the completion of the new high school, the present buildings will be no longer necessary for high school purposes, and,

"Whereas, a junior high school is imperatively needed in the northwest part of the city, and

"Whereas the school board now owns a 10-acre site located therein;

"Therefore, be it resolved, by the West Glendale Improvement association, that

"The high school board of trustees be urged to take immediate steps for the sale of the present high school buildings and grounds, delivery to be made when and after suitable high school buildings have been erected upon the site recently acquired in the northwest; the proceeds of the sale to be made available for the erection of such buildings and delivery of present buildings by school board, subject to completion of the new buildings.

Other Resolution

The other resolution follows:

"Whereas, The present school system of Glendale is not designed to properly take care of the school needs of a city having a population of 40,000 or more, and

"Whereas, The population of the city of Glendale is now rapidly approaching that mark and a reorganization of the system into a junior and senior high school plan is imperative, and

"Whereas, The new high school will be completed next September, and will greatly facilitate this change of system,

"Therefore be it resolved by the West Glendale Improvement association, that

"The school boards of the city immediately take steps for such re-organization as will provide the junior and senior high school system and the proper facilities for putting the same into effect at the earliest possible date."

BUILDERS WILL MEET THURSDAY

Change Time of Meeting Because of Exposition; To Have Dinner

The regular weekly meeting of the Builders' Exchange of Glendale, owing to Friday being the opening day of the Glendale Industrial Exhibit, will be held to-opening day of the Glendale Instead of on Friday, as a large number of the exchange members are exhibitors and on this account are obliged to be in attendance at the exhibit.

The meeting is scheduled as a dinner affair and will be called to order promptly at 6:30 p. m., and is to be held in the Golden Spanish cafe at 111 South Orange street.

The program calls for several speeches by men high up in the building industry, and from the number of reservations, promises to be well attended.

"This will be the third affair of its kind by the local exchange since its organization, and these meetings, states Henry Molz, secretary-manager, "are of considerable import, affording as they do, a broad outlook into the industry as a whole, and thus lead the members into a wider sphere covering their daily vocation, removing that narrow trend of mind so prevalent and best recognized by that familiar saying, all work and no joy makes one a dull boy.

"Optimism is the keynote of our exchange, business with members preferred is our slogan and we endeavor by every means within our power to live up to both."

Famed Music Artists Now Appear in Japan

TOKIO, May 23.—Evidence of Japan's continued interest in western musicians is shown by the formation in Tokio of the first Tokio symphony orchestra. Music lovers of Tokio will have, in addition to the symphony, visits from Fritz Kreisler and Jascha Heifetz, world-famous violinists. The visits of Kreisler and Heifetz follow those made by Micha Elman, Madame Schumann-Heink and Madame Anna Pavlova.

EMPLOYES TO DANCE

Municipal employes will frolic tonight in the American Legion hall, 610 East Broadway, at a dance to be given under the auspices of the engineering department. L. J. Fortier and Ralph Goodwin, who are in charge of the affair, promise several novel features. Syncopation will be furnished by four members of Clay's Dusky Sheiks of Los Angeles. Those who remember the good time enjoyed by all who attended the last dance of the engineering department are planning to attend.

Marries Dying Sweetheart By Long Distance

Justice H. P. Hughes & Helen Satterwhite.

Justice Hal P. Hughes, of Fort Worth, Texas, is shown performing the ceremony that made Helen Satterwhite, seated beside him, the bride of Horace W. Keller, a United States sailor, who, at the time of the marriage, was 2000 miles away, confined to his bed with pneumonia, in the naval hospital at Bremerton, Washington. A total of 46,000 miles of telephone wires were necessary for the routing of the nuptials. The couple had been sweethearts since childhood and were engaged to be married, but his serious illness caused her desire to hasten the marriage before his death.

STREET CAR NOW HAS NEW RIVAL

Runs on Pavement, Secures Power From Trolley Wire, Speed Thirty Miles

PHILADELPHIA, May 23.—The trackless trolley, popular in Europe and China as a means of avoiding marring of city streets with car tracks, has invaded Philadelphia, a line of them being about to be established along Oregon avenue, in the southern section of the city.

The new cars are striking in appearance, being a cross between the conventional "one-man" type of trolley car and a motor bus. A feature of them is the double trolley pole, used to convey the positive and negative current. Ordinarily a trolley takes its power from the single overhead wire; the current, after being used, flowing back to the power house through the tracks. Due to the absence of the tracks, however, the double pole was the only solution for the return current.

Complicated as it may seem, it works perfectly, and at a test recently conducted at the J. G. Brill Company's plant here, where the cars were built, two of them were kept running at high speed around an oval path in a small yard without any difficulty.

A party of Philadelphia City Councilmen rode on them and expressed hearty approval.

The cars themselves are of all-steel construction, seat thirty passengers and have a maximum speed of thirty miles an hour, far in excess of the average trolley car. Their weight is slightly over six tons. The new Philadelphia line will be the first to operate in such a large city. Trackless trolley lines have been operated in Los Angeles and Minneapolis, the present cars being for a new line at Petersburg, Va.

HOLDS WORLD RECORD

SEATTLE, May 23. — The United States scout cruiser Milwaukee today holds the world's speed record for vessels of more than 1300 tons displacement, following her trial run yesterday in the strait of Juan De Fuca.

The Milwaukee attained a speed of 35 knots, or 40 miles an hour, with her engines developing their full capacity of 105,000 horse power, according to J. A. Everes, vice-president of the Todd Dry Dock and Construction company.

TO INITIATE HARDING

WASHINGTON, May 23.—President Harding today announced he plans to go to Milford, Del., on June 9 to be initiated into the Tall Cedars of Lebanon, a Masonic organization. George B. Christian, secretary to the president, and Assistant Secretary of the Navy Theodore Roosevelt will be admitted to the order at the same time.

POSSE IN SEARCH

MADISON, Wis., May 23.—A posse of fifty police, reinforced by citizens, today were hunting for John L. Whitfield, wanted by Cleveland police on a charge of having murdered Patrolman Dennis Griffin, following his capture and sensational escape here last night. A young woman, giving her name as Marie Price, was taken with Whitfield and is being held at police headuarters.

Mrs. Nellie Wilbur of 128 North Everett street was operated upon this morning at the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital.

WON VET'S HEART BY KNITTING SOX

Coy Missive in Homely Wool Footwear Starts Romance; Wed in End

CHICAGO, May 23.—A pair of woolen socks knitted during the war by Miss Lotta Fischer, of this city, for "some American soldier over there" brought the fair donor a husband.

When she was sending them away Miss Fischer placed a slip of paper, bearing her name and address, in the toe of one of the socks.

Over in France, according to Edward Colfer, the groom, a lonesome soldier was sitting in a K. of C. hut, slumped in a chair before a fire.

The secretary approached.

"You're an American," he said to the Yank—"I think this means you."

With that he handed Colfer a package addressed "to some American soldier."

Colfer found the name and address, and a correspondence began which culminated in a wedding at St. Agatha's church here.

Suing Second Husband, Never Wed to Either

TAMPA, Fla., May 23.—Twice to the marriage altar and twice fighting matrimonial battles with as many men, only to learn that she had never been married.

This was the experience of Lenora Oates, of this city, when she sued her second hubby, M. L. Oates, for alimony after he had asked for a divorce and Judge F. M. Robles ruled she had never been legally married. When she entered into a partnership with Oates, it was brought out she had never been divorced from her first husband, Emilio Levoy.

Her marriage to Levoy was illegal, however, as he was living with an undivorced wife at that time.

MAKES AIRPLANE LANDINGS EASY

Endless Platform May Render Flat-Top Buildings Potential Aerodrome

By CHARLES A. SMITH
For International News Service

LONDON, May 23.—Every building with a flat roof has become a potential airdrome by reason of the invention of an apparatus to facilitate the landing and "taking off' of aeroplanes on small surfaces, and it is no small guess to state that the business man of the future will ride in an elevator to the top of his building and leave for home by aeroplane.

The invention which has made this possible will also enable every navy of the future to put to sea with not only a vast number of aeroplanes, flying boats and seaplanes, but with its own aerodromes and workshops, entirely independent of land aerodrome stations.

Affects War Craft

Already some vessels have been converted into aircraft-carriers by America, Britain and Japan, and others, incorporating the results of such research, are known to be secretly constructing similar vessels.

Britain has laid down two of these ships, which are claimed to be superior to those of any other elspower. These not only afford landing facilities, but are stated to be as well equipped for the carrying out of repairs as any ground station, and, with an ingenious rotating endless platform method to enable machines to "take off" and land, it is claimed that it is possible for the fastest machines to land with as much safety on the decks of an aeroplane carrier as on an aerodrome field.

Decks are Cleared

The decks of the carriers being constructed in Britain are entirely free of all obstructions, the funnels being set on the starboard side, and all boats, gear and other gadgets are assembled on the forward portion of the ship, well away from the landing deck.

The aeroplanes themselves are accommodated on the second deck and are raised on the flying-off deck by means of huge lifts.

Cranes, fitted on both sides of the ship, enable seaplanes which are forced to alight on the sea to be hauled aboard the mother-ship and searchlights and a landing light-tower enable aeroplanes to land in darkness.

The third deck down is fitted up with huge workshops, with stores and spare parts—everything from a propeller to a complete aero-engine being carried.

Once at sea these superships, with their flying children, need not touch land, except for repairs or refueling.

Five Miles of Books On Sale In New York

NEW YORK, May 23.—Five miles of books will be sold at auction here tomorrow. The War Department will dispose of 860,000 books of all kinds at the Brooklyn Army base. They were used during the war in recreational work among soldiers in the United States and Europe.

ROBS OIL STATION

LOS ANGELES, May 23.—Driving up to a Standard Oil company service station at Ninth and Carondolet streets early today, a lone bandit held up H. T. Dickson, the operator, took a bag of money and escaped. Dickson told the police he did not know how much money the sack contained.

The bandit car, according to Dickson, drove up to the station and asked for gasoline. The operator lifted down the gasoline hose and the bandit pulled a revolver and commanded Dickson to hand over the money.

INDIANS FILE SUIT

WASHINGTON, May 23.—The Karok Indians of California, today filed suit in the District of Columbia supreme court against the Federal Power company to prevent the leasing of their lands to the Electro Metals company of San Francisco.

The Indians claim their title to the national forest reserve in California was recognized by the treaty of 1848 under which the United States obtained the land from Mexico.

CABIN BOY'S PAY EXCEEDS CAPTAIN

Poor Old German Mark's Fluctuations Result in Strange Upset

VICTORIA, B. C., May 23.—The old order has certainly changed some when a cabin boy can pull down more money for his labors than a captain.

The fluctuations of the poor old German mark have created many unusual conditions and a man with a few honest dollars can provide himself with a chateau in the Fatherland, while another can pay off heavy mortgages in marks with a couple of "cartwheels."

The German freighter Hans Hemsoth, on her maiden voyage to the Pacific coast, arrived at this port minus one cabin boy. By coincidence it so happened that Joe Norman, tired of his school books, was lounging about the waterfront dreaming of life on a South Sea isle.

Joe got to talking with Captain Bark, of the Han Hemsoth, and as a result he signed on for the outward trip at the modest wage of $20 a month and all found. When one consults the foreign exchange rate he can easily convert Joe's monthly income into 800,000 marks, so that within six weeks the former school boy will be a German millionaire.

Feels Like Pauper

Now Captain Bark, with years of safeguarding experience behind him, and an honored and respected citizen of Germany, is drawing a salary that, in this country, makes him feel like a pauper. He signed on for 400,000 marks a month, and while that sounds big all the skipper gets when he cashes his check is a lonely ten-spot. If he wants company he orders two fives. Captain Bark is always to be found aboard ship; he's too poor to be a good fellow.

Joe Norman now is earning twice as much for performing the menial duties of cabin boy as is Captain Bark, who is entrusted with the thousand and one details in connection with the operation of his ship.

Ohio Pastor Refunds Money to Bridegrooms

LIMA, Ohio, May 23.—Despite opposition of other local clergymen, Rev. Warren L. Steeves, pastor of the First Baptist church here, stands pat on his agreement to marry couples without charge. "Everyone has the right to receive the blessing of God on his marriage," said Rev. Dr. Steeves, announcing that, no matter what the other ministers may do, he will stand strong for his convictions. Therefore, when the bridegroom hands me the fee, I return it to the bride, telling her to use it for anything she needs."

BURBANK

FATHER AND SON DINNER IS HELD

Many Meet Under Auspices Of Hi-Y for Annual Banquet, Meeting

Over 200 boys and dads gathered at the Presbyterian church last night, for the "Father and Son" banquet held at 6:30 o'clock under the auspices of the Burbank Hi-Y, with President Carl Burnett as toastmaster.

A feature of the occasion was the presence of sixty-five boys from the Strickland Home, Los Angeles, as special guests of the local Kiwanis club.

The speaker of the evening was Dr. Merle Smith, pastor of the First Methodist church of Pasadena.

During the dinner, music was furnished by the Hi-Y orchestra. Merle Waterman, Long Beach Y. M. C. A. secretary, and Sam Sutherland, Pasadena Y. M. C. A. secretary, entertained with their usual musical and song melange, the former giving his popular "Pianolog."

Ray Proctor of the Hi-Y talked on "The 1923 Y. M. C. A. Camp at Catalina Island," pointing out that this camp is open to Burbank boys between the ages of fifteen and eighteen years, from June 18 to 28.

Clifford Kettering of the Hi-Y talked on "The Kind of a Dad Every Boy Wants." George Bray of the Notchers club told "How the Y. M. C. A. Helps Boys Make Good With Dad."

Dr. T. E. McGuire of the Y. M. C. A. executive committee gave an address on "What Sort of Son Every Dad Wants."

Jury Acquits P. E.

A verdict of "unavoidable accident" was handed down by the coroner's jury that sat on the case of Mrs. Julia A. Thompson, killed Tuesday afternoon, May 15, when the automobile she was driving was struck by a Pacific Electric car at the intersection of Providencia avenue and the Fourth street tracks.

The inquest, which was conducted at the A. C. Fillbach undertaking establishment, and attended by a large number of witnesses and interested parties, brought forth a confusion as to speeds and distances. Some said the P. E. car was traveling at a high rate of speed, others that the fated auto was speeding.

The motorman, William C. Helms, testified that he gave the usual warning, that he was not exceeding eighteen miles per hour, that the instant he saw the auto he applied the brakes, and that following the crash the auto was dragged about 130 feet.

Mrs. O. P. Murray, the woman who was in the auto driven by Mrs. Thompson, and who has since at the Burbank hospital, was able to talk sufficiently a day or so ago to give her version of the accident. She states that they heard no whistle from the approaching car and that it was upon them before they saw it.

"I cried out when I saw the car," Mrs. Murray said, "and poor Mrs. Thompson swung our machine down the track. The next instant there was a grinding crash as the car struck us a glancing blow.

"I fainted and remember regaining consciousness to find Mrs. Thompson lying on top of me. I recall asking her to get off, but she did not move. I fainted again and the next thing I remember is being taken out of the wrecked machine.

"Had Mrs. Thompson not swung the auto down the track, saving us the full impact, I am certain I too would have been killed. I think of it all only with horror almost too great."

Wiener Bake

The Girl Scouts held a wiener bake yesterday, May 22, managed by the Mountain Laurel patrol. The girls plan on going camping the first week after school is out. The site selected is a few miles out of Santa Monica, where there is good swimming and hiking, together with necessary conveniences. A committee is being chosen to arrange the details.

To show how anxious he was to get away from a certain spot near the reservoir, at the head of Palm avenue, City Engineer Miller points to a car with a cracked cylinder-head, said car having been utilized to withdraw him from said spot.

It was a panther that caused Mr. Miller's precipitate flight. He states that he had not been unduly anxious to depart fast, until in the moonlight he saw a sinuous beast come slinking along, whipping its tail and licking its own chops in anticipation of enjoying his.

Something in the beast's demeanor caused Mr. Miller to conclude that flight was the better part of curiosity, hence the cylinder-cracking homeward sprint.

EAGLE ROCK

ORGANIZATIONS HOLD MEETINGS

Civic Gatherings Plan to Further City; Realtors Visit at Tujunga

Two important civic meetings were held last night. The Eagle Rock Improvement association met at the City Hall, and the Eagle Rock branch of the Clean Government League of California met at the Central School auditorium.

Both organizations are of recent formation. The former is an outgrowth of the Sunrise Civic club and other similar organizations, while the latter was formed not long ago, by a small group of public spirited citizens, including Walter E. Hind, chairman; Frank E. Townsend, vice-chairman, and Mrs. W. E. Bruce, secretary-treasurer.

Last night's session, as usual, was open to the public. It began with community singing, after which various angles of civic welfare from the viewpoint of consolidation, were discussed.

The state organization, of which the local branch is a part, was perfected in 1915 and maintains headquarters in the San Fernando building, Los Angeles. The state officers are: Dr. George H. McNeill, president; Ira F. Thompson, vice-president; C. Robert Weber, chairman of the legislative committee; Rev. E. E. Haring, executive secretary; Hon. Walter S. Gates, chairman of the department of public welfare; Paul C. Yesser, chairman of the department of investigation.

Honor Former Residents

Messrs Otho P. and Rollo C. La Porte, sons of Rev. C. R. La Porte and Mrs. Flora G. La Porte, were recently ordained as ministers of the gospel by the San Francisco Presbytery, in the First Presbyterian church of Berkeley, their father having a part in the service.

The two young minister-brothers plan to leave in the fall for graduate study abroad, probably in Edinburgh. They are graduates of the San Francisco Theological Seminary, San Francisco.

The San Francisco Journal, in commenting on the event, stated:

"The unique feature of the fifty-second annual commencement of San Ffancisco Theological Seminary, at San Francisco, was the awarding of diplomas to Mrs. Flora G. La Porte, of Los Angeles, and her two sons, Otho Paul Daniel La Porte and Rollo C. La Porte, and of a special certificate to her daughter, Miss Irene La Porte. In addition, the degree of bachelor of divinity was conferred on the two sons."

As the La Portes are former residents of Eagle Rock, this information will be of special interest to their many friends.

Guests of Tujunga

Several Eagle Rock realtors and their families were guests of the Tujunga Valley Realty Board, at a dinner and entertainment held at the Garden of the Moon, Tujunga, Monday afternoon and night, May 21.

Those who attended were Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Johnston, Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Smith, Mr. and Mrs J. D. Thorne and L. E. Weisenburg.

They enjoyed the presentation of a "Chauve Souris" by the mission Players, for the benefit of the benefit of the American Legion of that section

The pupils of the Central school, with their teachers and parents, will be given an opportunity to enjoy this Mission Play, at San Gabriel, Saturday afternoon, May 26, special arrangements having been made.

DRINK WATER IF BACK OR KIDNEYS HURT

Begin Taking Salts If You Feel Backachy Or Have Bladder Weakness

Too much rich food forms acids which excite and overwork the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the system. Flush the kidneys occasionally to relieve them like you relieve the bowels, removing acids, waste and poison, else you may feel a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, the stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get irritated, obliging one to get up two or three times during the night.

To help neutralize these irritating acids and flush off the body's urinous waste, begin drinking water. Also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine and bladder disorders disappear.

This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation. Jad Salts is inexpensive and makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to help prevent serious kidney and bladder disorders.

By all means, drink lots of good water every day. Have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.—Advertisement.

SUNLAND

BOXING PROGRAM FOR VALLEY FANS

Bob Kelley and Johnny McGraw to Meet in Main Event on Tuesday

The boxing fans of the valley are to be served a swell dish next Tuesday night at Twin Pines pavilion, Sunland, when Bob Kelley, of Los Angeles, and Johnny McGraw, of Denver, meet in the main event.

Bob Kelley has made two starts at Twin Pines and won both, the first without any trouble and the second with very little that could be spotted with the nude eye. He had some trouble getting the range of the human spider that pounced on him at the last show, but after the first round Sailor Papini began to sag in the middle and grew affectionate to the degree that he began kissing the canvas at regular and frequent intervals, until one last osculation compelled his undivided attention and he failed to arise before the ref counted the fateful ten in the third round. This was Kelley's second knockout here.

Kelley went to Torrance the next night after this bout and K. O.'d Kid Reuney in the first round of their fight there. A showing like this should get any man the limelight and Kelley gets his chance at his first main event at Twin Pines Tuesday night, May 29.

He Likes Himself

McGraw likes himself so well that he wants to fight 'winner take all.' Kelley thinks considerable of himself as well and will accommodate the gent to this extent. Further accommodations are not guaranteed by Kelley however, and he urges Johnny to bring his own bandages and arnica. McGraw is said to pack a mule kick in both hands and to have some considerable knowledge of where and how to place this playful tap. Kelley has demonstrated to valley bugs that he knows a LOT about keeping away from these articles of the trade and at the same time presenting his opponent with a few smacks of his own. With the winner-take-all arrangement there should be plenty action, as no box fighting gent craves to do his stuff all evening for nothing and go home without some bacon or at least a little boiled ham for the missus. They weigh in at 135 pounds.

In the semi windup will be Kid Williams, of Lankershim, and Sailor O'Brien, of the U. S. S. Texas, at 118 pounds.

The special event will be furnished by Pat Murphy, of the Lyceum Athletic club of Los Angeles, and Jimmey Fox, of San Diego. These two are slated for furnishing some competition for the main eventers for popularity. Jimmy Fox boxed Kid Foster three weeks ago here and knocked that amiable gent loose from ten years growth. Jimmy is a conscientious worker and goes in there to win and not to dance. He won from Kid Foster by the old K. O. route and got a big hand from the bugs on his first appearance. They scale at 122 pounds.

Others On Card

The remaining bouts will be between Kid Carr, of Glendale, and Amerigo, of San Pedro, at 110 pounds, and a return bout between Buss Kane, a Sunland boy, and Pete Morago, also a local boy. These two went the four rounds at the first show here to a draw and want to settle their differences for keeps. Buss has a haymaker that will cause considerable trouble if he can keep from telegraphing it to his opponent. He has trouble keeping his intentions secret and Pete got out of the way of some swings last time that, though they missed his dome, where they were intended to land, they caused him to have pneumonia from the draft they created going past. Buss says he can do 'er, and Pete says Buss can't, so thar y'be.

Promoter Kimpel has been visiting all the boxing shows in and around Los Angeles in an endeavor to secure a line on the best talent procurable, and the previous shows he has put on at his pavilion have been well up to the standard of the best in the country.

Dick Donald, matchmaker of the Lyceum Athletic club, will be present Tuesday night to watch the work of Bob Kelley against McGraw. This Irishman is getting the attention of the matchmakers since his last three K. O.'s, and it looks like a good summer for him.

Frank Crowley has also announced his intentions to be present to see what these two boys have got. Mr. Crowley is match maker for the American Legion stadium at Hollywood, the largest arena in the country.

Arrested for Theft, Has Roll of $1600

BOSTON, May 23.—Louis Sibbitt, 56, of 164 Devon street, Roxbury, arrested for the larceny of $5 from John A. Pulsinelli of 250 Blue Hill avenue, bailed himself at the Dudley street station with ten $1 bills taken from a roll of $1600 found on him when arrested.

The roll was made up of one and two dollar bills and took the police more than thirty minutes to count when the man was being booked.

Hubby's Aversion to Water Wins Divorce

DENVER, May 23.—Vincent Belpano's aversion for water both internally and externally formed basis of a cruelty charge in his wife's divorce complaint here. Mary Belpano, his wife, was awarded a preliminary decree when she testified that Vincent had refused to take a bath for eight years, and that he frequently came home "soused."

Modern Portia Foils Indiana Court Order

HUNTINGTON, Ind., May 23.—A deputy, ordered to seize and take to its owner a canary bird, was baffled momentarily when the woman who had the bird told him to take the little yellow fellow but not to "dare touch the cage." The deputy after deep thought took the bird in his hands.

Files Petition to Adopt Own Children

FRANKFORT, Ind., May 23.—Petition for the adoption of her two children has been filed in circuit court here by Mrs. Lelah Pickard and her husband, Ernest Pickard. The children, who are 2 and 3 years of age, were born to Mrs. Pickard by a formed marriage.

A SAVAGE TIRE "AD"—WITH COMMENTS — No. 1 OF A SERIES

Well folks, we're going to give you something original again this year. We're going to take you "behind the scenes," so to speak, and tell you why and how Savage Tire "ads" are made up. There's a reason for this, of course, and I'll be frank and tell you right off the bat that we're doing it to get you interested in what we have to say. There's another thing I want to tell you while I'm at it, and that is that we're going to stick to facts only. We could easily draw on our imagination and tell you a lot of interesting things that wouldn't be true—but that would be to abuse your confidence, and I don't mind telling you I value your confidence above everything else in the work we are about to do. I thank you. Royal B. Lee, Advertising Manager.

THE EXPRESSION OF AN IDEAL

To manufacture tires, so perfect in design and construction that they surpass all previous accomplishments in tire building, so pleasing to the eye that they enhance the beauty of the finest car, so remarkable in performance that they serve the user's interests beyond his every reasonable expectation --- this has been the purpose; is now, we have reason to believe, the accomplishment; and will continue to be the endeavor of The Spreckels "Savage" Tire Company, exemplified in the building of Savage Tires.

Every successful ad must get the attention of the reader. This is usually done with an illustration.

It's a good idea to have the names of the products advertised fairly prominent in the ad so people will know what you're talking about.

I think this is a pretty good "catch phrase" because it has a double meaning. It serves as a title to the illustration and it gives people the idea that by using Savage Tires they will be relieved of a lot of tire trouble. Not a bad thought—is it?

This headline will tie up the illustration with the reading matter that follows. It's not very strong as an "attention or interest getter" but it honestly lets people know what's coming.

I think this is rather a nice flow of words—I built up the idea and got most of the expressions from an automobile ad and now it fits our case exactly. I wonder, though, if people will believe a statement like this? The trouble is, the words seem to express something almost too good to be true. And yet, when a firm is really actuated by high ideals and has accomplished certain noteworthy things, it seems only right to tell people about it in the nicest words you can. That's what I've done here.

Advertising text books say a "parting thought" should be left with the reader that will make them want to buy the product advertised.

A list of our dealers makes it easy for you to verify what I have said about our tires by making a comparison of our tires with the ones you are using now.

Woman's Page

When Sylvester Tyd sold three pictures in one week he decided to send his daughter, Gwen, to college. Since that first day long ago when he felt his brush, at last, was going the will of his mind, he had never been so happy. He was a gentle little man, and there were in life for him but two things, art and Gwen.

"It has been a long fight," he said when he broke the news to the girl, "and I'll admit it was a hard one. Now it is over. My pictures are appreciated and they will give you an education."

In vain the girl reminded him it might be many weeks before there was another sale. The father was confident and determined.

"It is a victory, not only for myself," he said, "but for the good old school. Through all the passing whims, in the face of the freaks and fancies, I have held true to my idea and my ideals. Many a time there has come the temptation to desert for the moment what I knew was art, for I could have made money by catering to these newer schools. But you know I did not concede an inch. I have worked for the great reward of recognition for merit and it has come when it was most needed."

Gwen went away to school and Sylvester worked harder than ever that he might keep her there for the four years of the course. He was known among fellow artists, who found it difficult to maintain their studios, as the wealthy and fortunate Tyd, who was able to send a daughter to school. Because of his gentle demeanor, exalted views of art and simple honesty, there was none who begrudged him his pleasure.

Sylvester sold more pictures, and the first year of college for Gwen was one of triumph and happiness. He lived frugally, and at last when she left to become a senior, felt the struggle was nearly over. No one knew how much it cost him in strength and sacrifice.

There came a time when the pictures did not sell. A new craze had made its appearance and Sylvester saw, once more, the public turn to something he knew was false. They would come back, he told himself, and kept on painting. Had it not been for his two pupils he would not have been able to send any money to Gwen. Soon she would be needing more.

He wrote encouraging letters to the girl, and there came back letters telling of the senior year festivities and the wonderful experience she was having. "When I get back," she wrote, "I will be equipped to earn my living. If there should come a time when you need it I can repay you for all you have done."

If there should come a time! Sylvester, without a cent in the place, wondered if he had the heart to write her to come home. He had taken his canvases around to all the shops but no one would buy. Many he left to be sold on commission, but they told him there was little hope.

"You have to splash your color on recklessly nowadays, get big and brilliant effects. Men aren't looking for quiet moods any more—they want pictures to spring at them and shout."

Sylvester never told anyone he tried to paint such a picture, that he looked at the result with horror and burned the canvas in his stove. He never told of his efforts to win back former pupils, for the first time humiliating himself by asking for the attention which in other days had sought him out. He was at the end of his rope and knew he must give up his plan for Gwen or his loved ideals. A night passed before he made his decision.

The next day Sylvester locked his studio that no one might interrupt his labors. He worked as a man in a dream, stifling his conscience and thrusting aside every warning voice that told him to stop. At the end of a week he sent a check to Gwen.

Gwen was graduated in a new gown and she came home filled with happiness and stories of those last college days. Sylvester looked at her radiant face and listened. When she told him of her plans to work and of the position she had been offered by the father of one of her classmates, he nodded.

"I am sorry, but I guess you will have to," he said. "You see, I am too old to paint now. I'm through."

Gwen never knew how Sylvester had earned the money to send her to college. There was one dealer who knew, and it was to his advantage to keep still.

The fire burned late in Sylvester's stove that night and the fuel was canvas, brushes, easel and palette. A broken man who knew he had committed the last offense, looked at the flames and smiled. He did not try to excuse himself and this is no attempt in his behalf. Sylvester Tyd, for six months, had been copying the landscapes of the famous Charles Atwater and a dealer had been palming them off as originals. Honor, ideals and the work of a life-time—he had given all, for Gwen.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.

Author of "Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories"

SPIRITUALITY VS MATERIALITY

ACIDOSIS

You remember I talked some time ago on the general uses of the mineral elements and the necessity for getting the right mineral elements and in right proportions. I spoke about their importance in keeping the blood and the tissue fluids in their normal slightly alkaline state. The blood and tissue fluids probably never become actually acid in life; but if they become less alkaline than they should be, a condition which we term acidosis is brought about and the health is impaired, more or less, depending upon the degree of acidosis produced.

The alkalinity of the blood may be lowered in two ways. First, when there is an excessive production of acid in the system; and, second, when there is the normal amount of acids but they are not gotten rid of by the system because of some disorders of the eliminating system. The severe forms of acidosis are seen in severe diabetes, kidney disease and some of the serious gastro-intestinal disorders in children. These must be cared for under the personal direction of a skillful physician who specializes in such disorders.

The mild acidoses are caused by the excessive production of acid in the system through prolonged incorrect diet. And of course if this goes on long enough, the different organs of the body will be injured so much that they may become diseased and severe acidoses may result. The mild acidoses and autointoxication mean about the same.

Certain foods are more acid-forming than other foods. If these acid-forming foods are not well balanced by the alkaline-forming foods, then we can expect the over-production of acid with its injurious effects.

Meat, white of eggs, and cereals which have gone through the modern milling processes and have had the germ and the bran which contain most of the alkali or basic minerals removed (this would include white bread and pastries made of them) are the main acid-forming foods. Excess sugar and candy and excess fat will also tend to cause acidosis.

Milk and vegetables and fruits are the alkali-producing foods. Fruits, although they may be acid to the taste, are burned in the body, leaving the alkaline salts with which they are bound; so that the effect of fruits is to increase the alkalinity of the body rather than to diminish it.

A diet which includes too many of the acid-forming foods also tends to cause constipation and putrefaction, with the evils that these conditions produce.

While prunes and plums and cranberries are not listed among the base or alkali-forming foods, their laxative effect (especially of prunes and plums) would tend to counteract their slight acid properties by helping to prevent constipation with the long retention of the waste in the bowels.

You can see from what I have said about the cause of acidosis that the reason we advise a large amount of the green vegetables and milk and fruits is not only for their vitamins (and, in the milk, the especially good form of protein and calcium) but for their alkaline properties which counteract the effects of the acid-forming foods.

If you have a diet consisting mostly of white bread, meat and pastries, even though you have potatoes also, you have a preponderance of acid-producing and vitaminless foods. You are suffering, or eventually will suffer, from acidosis.

Among the symptoms of acidosis are shortness of breath, nervousness, mental depression, drowsiness, rheumatic pains, neuritis, skin disorders and, in the more severe forms, convulsions and unconsciousness.

An exclusive fruit or milk or green leaf vegetable diet for a few days is advised for cases of acidosis.

Then begin to include milk and the green leaf vegetables and fruits in your diet. (Babies and young children can have their vegetables and fruits pureed.) Take the green leaf vegetables twice a day, not in little dabs but in good-sized dishes; cut down your meat to the minimum, and get part of your protein in milk, in some form. Remember that you must have from 250 to 350 calories of protein in your diet daily. Avoid cane sugar and candy and fat in excess. Eat more potatoes and less white bread. See that your bowels move freely every day, not by drugs, but by the correct diet, regular habits, exercise, and the inclusion of non-medicated agar or bran or liquid-petrolatum if necessary.

If you have been suffering from acidosis you will find an immediate improvement. Remember that acidosis can be caused by over-eating for your needs even of the right foods, or under-eating (by causing a starvation acidosis).

Beauty Chats

by Edna Kent Forbes

PERFECT CLEANLINESS

We are much cleaner and healthier and more beautiful today as a race than we have ever been. To be sure, the ancient Roman with his luxurious public baths is supposed to hold the historical record for cleanliness, but though there were many free public baths it is doubtful whether the poor people, who made up the majority of the population, could indulge in these more than once a week or so. There are few places today without some sort of bath with running water, and the daily bath is taken with as little ceremony as breakfast.

A sixteenth century writer says: "A gentlewoman ought to wash herself every several days" (whatever he means by that) "in warm water perfumed with some sweet smelling substance; for a nice cleanliness gives a bloom to the woman's beauty." Eighteenth century basins and water jugs are surprisingly small, some hold scarcely more than a quart, certainly not enough to make the hands and face really clean. But what they lacked in the use of soap our ancestresses made up in perfumes.

No amount of cosmetics can atone for the lack of soap and warm water. There are some skins so sensitive that the mildest soap is an irritant and a cream must be used for cleansing. But even such complexions need daily bathing with very warm water, for the water itself is a stimulating tonic.

The average skin should be washed once every day with hot water and a good, mild, oily soap. Either a face cloth or a moderately stiff complexion brush should be used to stimulate and cleanse the skin. Where the skin is very bad, cleansing creams or special ointments must be used, but should be given in connection with soap and water. The daily hot bath not only cleanses the body but draws from the pores an amount of waste matter, making both the face and the body healthier and more beautiful.

Mother's Oat-Flake Cookies: "Mix together one cup of softened shortening, one large cup of sugar, three beaten eggs, two cups of flour sifted with one teaspoon each of baking soda and ground cinnamon, two cups of oatmeal soaked in six tablespoons of sweet milk, one-half teaspoon of salt, four cups of flour, four cups of oat flakes, one cup each of seeded raisins, shredded cocoanut, and nut meats. Stir this mixture well, then put four large spoonfuls on a pie pan and bake twenty minutes in a slow oven. This recipe makes thirty-six cakes.—F. G. S."

Apple Sauce Cake: "Three cups of sugar, one cup of shortening, two and one-half cups of thick apple sauce sweetened and hot as for table use, one cup of seeded raisins, one package of dates, one-half pound of citron cut fine, one and one-half cups of nut meats, one candied orange peel, one-fourth pound of candied pineapple, one-fourth pound of candied cherries, three scant teaspoons of soda, five cups of flour, one teaspoon each of ground cloves, cinnamon and nutmeg. Mix in the order given, and bake one and one-half hours in a moderate oven."—Mrs. J. A. H.

"Food for the Gods Dessert: One pound of nuts not too finely chopped, one-half pound of dates cut fine, two cups of granulated sugar, seven tablespoons of cracker crumbs (heaping), six eggs beaten separately. Beat the egg-yolks, add the sugar to them, then the nuts, dates rolled in cracker crumbs and baking powder mixed, a pinch of salt, and the stiffly whipped egg-whites. Flavor with one teaspoon of vanilla. Bake one hour in a moderate oven. Serve plain or with whipped cream. Very delicious.—Mrs. H. B."

Self Supporting Girl Entitled to Liberty

CLEVELAND, May 23.—You can't enforce a 9 o'clock curfew law on a self-supporting girl of 17, Police Prosecutor D. H. Laurenzio told Mrs. Mary Globokar, who called to ask his aid in making her daughter come home nights.

"Marie stays out nights until 10 o'clock, when I have told her to be home by 9 o'clock," Mrs. Globokar said.

"I work every day and give mother $12 of the $14 I make each week," Marie explained.

Laurenzio told the mother that her daughter should be given more liberty.

Scores Dance Halls As Danger to Girls

CHICAGO, May 23.—Thousands of young girls are sacrificed yearly in Chicago on the altars of jazz and modern dancing, Phillip Yarrow, superintendent of the Illinois Vigilance association, asserts. The big city dance hall, he said, "is the greatest moral danger facing a young inexperienced girl."

Of the average of 15,000 couples seen on the Chicago dance floors nightly, 12,000 dance suggestively, Yarrow said.

Ex-Russian Royalty In Paris Dress Trade

PARIS, May 23.—In one of Paris' finest apartment houses now converted into American offices the servants' floor is a busy bustling place. On one door reads "Baroness de Grothens, Models." Here is where the former Princess Nehildoff ekes out an existence, aided by Mademoiselle Narishkine, daughter of the Russian ambassador. Another door is marked "Lingerie," and the business is managed by the Grand Duchess Marie. The old order changeth. "Dressed like a Princess" today reads "Dressed by a Princess."

CONTINUE HEARING

LOS ANGELES, May 23.—The trial of eight defendants charged by the federal authorities with conspiracy and collusion in connection with bids on surplus army supplies at Camp Kearny, San Diego, were granted a continuance of one week, when their case came up in the federal court late Tuesday before Judge James. The continuance was granted because of the illness of one of the defense attorneys.

MAY CURE CANCER

NEW YORK, May 23.—An apparently successful cure for cancer, heretofore considered incurable, has been found by Prof. Blair Bell of Liverpool University, according to Lee Houghey of Concordia, Kan., who arrived from England yesterday on the President Adams. The cure, Dr. Houghey said, consists of a solution of collodal lead, an enemy to diseased tissues.

THE OIL OF LIFE

"Habit is either the best of servants or the worst of masters."—Emmons.

If someone should come to you and ask you if you would sell your habit of orderliness (this, of course, is addressed to those fortunate or forehanded enough to possess it) for a thousand dollars, would you do it (if you couldn't get another)?

Perhaps you would. But I fancy that if you did there would come times when you would regret it.

Someone has called good habits the oil of life, and I think no better expression could be devised.

Every good habit that one forms, however small, makes life a little more smooth running in the future.

He Must Pick Up After Himself

We all know how much work it is to pick up after a disorderly child. Some day it is going to be just as much work for that child to pick up after himself. But if he can be taught never to take off a garment without hanging it up, never to take off a pair of shoes without putting them in their place, in his early youth, that will become so much a second nature to him that he will feel no effort in it. Wellington once said that habit was ten times nature. Pretty strong, I think. But at least habit is second nature, and one can so acquire the habit of doing certain desirable things that one will do them entirely without effort.

I was trying to straighten out my checkbook form a frightful muddle into which my trick of writing checks without setting them down when I am in a hurry, and later setting them down from a tricky memory, had gotten me, when a friend came in.

Before She Writes the Check

"Don't you ever get your checkbook into a mess?" I asked.

"I did at the very first," she said, "then someone advised me to form the habit of always making out the stub before I wrote the check. I never think of doing it any other way now, so I seldom get into a mess."

That same person makes it a rule never to put a letter into an envelope without first addressing the envelope. She says that also keeps her from muddles.

A habit worth about 185 hours a year (you can convert that into money by reckoning the value of your hours) is the habit of getting up when you wake up instead of lying a half hour or so. If I had that habit I certainly wouldn't sell it for a thousand dollars.

Perhaps you cannot give your children the money, or the chances you would like to give them, but if you can help them to acquire that habit, what an endownment you will give them.

Even As You and I

Do you remember the cry of Paul in Romans: "For what I would, that do I not, but what I hate that do I." I think that is the most poignantly, universally human thing in all the Bible.

That's life—doing the things we don't really want to and leaving undone what we wish we had done. And that's the wonderful thing about a good habit. It helps us to do the things we ought to do as a matter of course.

Blessed is the child who lays in a good stock of the oil of life in the early years when that oil is easiest come by.

MOSCOW, May 23.—From Teheran comes an account of a protest made to the Third International by the "supreme representative of Mesopotamia" regarding the British occupation under the convention of October, 1922.

From both India and Japan the Petrograd Academy of Science has recently received requests for its publications.

In the last ten months from the Ukraine there has been exported 600,000 poods of junk to Italy and Poland, netting the sum of $25,000.

Engineers have arrived at Odessa to superintend the construction of the new telegraph line from Germany to the Ukraine—part of the new Indo-European telegraph line.

A factory club in the Ukraine recently held a trial of the director of its factory for giving a blow to an aged watchman who had worked forty years in the factory. The penalty was six months' confinement.

The museum specimens and archives of Georgia, which had been sequestered in the North Caucasus, have been returned to their own state.

An old Spanish worker , who writes that he owns two houses and has no heirs, has sent 12,000 gold pesos to Russia to be used for dining rooms for the hungry.

The Petrograd Publishing industry is issuing twenty-six scientific magazines and proposes soon to publish the complete works of Lenin, twenty-five volumns, and of Gorki, twenty volumes.

The Russian government maintains five leper colonies. They are located at Petrograd, Kuban, Astrachan, Caucasus and Tersk. The Commissariat of Health is making arrangements with the Commissariat of Agriculture for lands and forests for these lepers and for transport of goods and the performance of labor under conditions adequate to prevent the spread of the disease.

Peter Menzhinsky, who, during the counter revolution, burned alive three hundred Jews in a Ukraine village, has been tried at Kiev and ordered executed.

Inner immigration in Russia is an important problem. The Commissariat of Agriculture has organized two groups of colonial regions. The first group includes the southeast, Turkestan, the north of European Russia and the Far Eastern republic. The second region includes Siberia, the Eastern Urals and the Khirghez Steppes. The colonizing bureau of the first group has its headquarters in Saratoff, where a million dessaytins of land are being sought in the Don and Guban regions—the best black lands of Russia. Fifty thousand dessyatins are to be provided for ten thousand persons.

YOUR CUP OF COFFEE

Weighing Coffee For the U. S. Army

We Americans are a nation of coffee-drinkers. Last year we imported one and a third billion pounds of coffee. Figure that out at thirty cups to the pound, and you get a notion of the quantity of the beverage we consume in a twelve month.

Of the enormous total of imported coffee four-fifths came from Brazil, the next largest contributor being Colombia, which sent up 249,123,356 pounds.

In tropical America coffee is grown at high altitudes; it does not thrive in the lowlands. But, oddly enough, on the island of Guam it flourishes close to sea level. Every family in Guam grows its own coffee, and commonly the plant is used for hedges, which are beautiful, with green and glossy leaves, white flowers that have the odor of jasmine, and berries that look like little red cherries.

Each berry contains two seeds, which are the coffee beans. The berries are mashed, the pulp is removed by washing ,and the seeds are dried in the sun.

The coffee plant is supposed to have originated in Arabia, though some authorities claim that it was introduced in that country from the mountains of Abyssinia. It is a slender shrub or small tree. In the interior of Arabia are many hill villages maintained solely by coffee trees grown on terraces and planted so thick that the sun can rardly penetrate the groves.

In Java coffee is grown on terraced mountain sides, and in some localities the trees, set twenty-five feet apart, attain giant size, reaching a height of thirty or even forty feet. Such a tree will yield six or seven pounds of prepared coffee beans a year, whereas an ordinary coffee plant may produce less than one pound.

Efforts have been made to grow coffee in Louisiana and Southern Florida, but they have not been successful. There are two or three other kinds of beans that are commonly used to adulterate coffee, and which—beverages made from them, that is to say—taste like coffee; but they contain no caffeine.

Caffeine is the alkaloid in coffee that gives to it the stimulating quality. Theine does the same for tea. The two are exactly the same thing under different names.

Coral reefs grew in great abundance in the seas which covered what is now Wisconsin, Michigan and Ontario.

HINTS FOR THE MOTORIST by ALBERT L. CLOUGH

STOPPING THE SPRINGS FROM SQUEAKING
Spring Leaves Should Never be Allowed to Rust Together

There is such a multitude of motor car parts which imperatively demand frequent and thorough lubrication to prevent their almost immediate and complete destruction, that one almost hesitates even to mention the lubrication of chassis-spring leaves to the overburdened motorist for, as a matter of experience, chassis springs generally outlast most other car parts, whether they are oiled or not. Still, they deserve some attention in this respect. When they leave the factory they have graphite between their leaves, to prevent their rusting together, to reduce interleaf friction during deflection—thus making them more limber—and primarily to eliminate squeaking. Water and grit finally displace the graphite, the springs may become appreciably stiffer and probably they begin to squeak unbearably. Some claim that they are liable to break when leaf lubrication is absent, and this is probably a fact if the leaves have actually rusted together. The most generally applicable method of leaf lubrication seems to be the following: Clean off the springs thoroughly, removing all grit from between the edges of the leaves particularly, with a stiff brush, then stir up a small amount of flake graphite in cylinder oil and apply this mixture, with a paint brush, working it well into the spaces between the edges of the leaves and around the ends of the short leaves, where they overlap the long ones. Have someone on the running board "joggle" the car violently to make the springs deflect and thus work in the lubricant. If this procedure is repeated once or twice before the car is again washed, the oil will find its way between the leaves and squeaking will be prevented for a time at least, this treatment usually being sufficient to keep the springs in good condition until the next overhauling, when the car frame can be jacked up to unload them, the leaves separated by loosening the clips and prying apart and graphite grease spread between the leaves by means of a case knife.

CHARGING FORD MAGNETO

T. N. asks: Can a Ford magneto be charged by the use of dry battery current, or by electricity from the ordinary city supply circuit?

Answer: Practically speaking, it would be impossible to charge it from dry batteries; it would take such an enormous number of them. It is possible to charge it from a direct current, city curcuit, and this is sometimes done. However, storage batteries of large capacity are almost always used for this purpose, as being much more convenient than any arrangement involving connection to a direct current circuit.

OIL PUMPING

A. H. N. writes: The pistons of my engine give trouble from oil pumping, and I had them removed and new pistons with three rings each substituted. Now there is a knock in one of the cylinders, and I find the piston is somewhat loose. There is a new kind of piston made for this engine. Do you advise my putting one of these pistons in this cylinder?

Answer: If you make any change at all, you will have to put exactly the same pistons in each of the cylinders, as otherwise the engine will run out of balance and vibrate very badly. The kind of piston which is being recommended for your engine, which has a slotted skirt, we believe will work very well, and do away with oil pumping and knocking if your cylinders have not worn much out of round, and are otherwise right to receive pistons of the same size.

LIFE OF FOUR-CYLINDER CAR

J. C. R. asks: With good care, what is the life of an average four-cylinder car? Also, can you tell me whether the dry storage battery is reliable?

Answer: This question of the life of a motor car is a difficult one. If it is meant how many miles a car will run if repairs are carried to the limit, it may almost be said that the life is indefinite, but if the question is how long such a car can be expected to run without requiring so much repairing as to result in an unwarranted expense ,the answer is much more difficult. As a guess we should say that 50,000 miles is a fair estimate for the life of a good car that is always well taken care of, and which, perhaps, is run long after it has gone out of style and after it is obsolete in many ways. No two persons would perhaps give the same figure for car life, and it is very much a matter of opinion, the statistics upon the subject not being readily obtainable.

The so-called dry storage batteries which make use of a jelly-like electrolyte may be entirely reliable, but the fact is that, although they have been on the market for many years, they have never attained any substantial popularity. You can draw your own conclusions.

THEATRES

THE GLENDALE

"All's Fair In Love," is a gay Goldwyn whirl adapted from the stage success, "The Bridal Path," by Thompson Buchanan and directed by E. Mason Hopper, with a cast including Stuart Holmes, Raymond Hatton, Richard Dix and May Collins.

Real diversion is offered in this sparkling comedy-drama. The unique spectacle of a just-married wife vamping her own husband is one of the novel features enjoyed.

The story tells how a certain Natalie Marshall, a spoiled child, believing her husband faithless, refuses to recognize the marriage pact but finally triumphs over her suspicion and attempts to win him back. What happens from then on forms a farce that is highly hilarious.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories
— By Howard R. Garis —

UNCLE WIGGILY AND JOHNNIE'S SUGAR

One day, as Uncle Wiggily was hopping through the woods, he saw, just ahead of him, scampering along, Johnnie Bushytail, one of the squirrel brothers. But, strange to say, Johnnie did not look as happy and jolly as he nearly always did.

"What's the matter, Johnnie?" asked the bunny gentleman.

"Aw, I got to go to the store," and when Johnnie answered he did not speak very pleasantly. Uncle Wiggily noticed this and asked:

"Don't you like to go to the store, Johnnie?"

"Sometimes I do," replied the squirrel boy. "I like to help my mother, and go to the store for her, as I'm doing now, but this time I was going over in the lots to play ball with the animal boys. And I can't go if I have to scamper to the store."

Uncle Wiggily thought for a moment and then said:

"Look here, Johnnie, my lad. I know you're a pretty good little squirrel boy, and, as I have nothing special to do, I'll go to the store for you. Tell me what you are to get and I'll meet you in the woods, after the ball game, and give you the store stuff. Then you may take it home to your mother."

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily! Will you do that for me?" chattered Johnnie. "That's very kind of you, and I'm sorry I was a bit cross. My mother wants some sugar—here's the money she gave me. You please get the bag of sugar, I'll go play ball, and I'll meet you in the woods later. Thanks a whole lot!"

"Scamper along," laughed the bunny gentleman, twinkling his pink nose. So Johnnie handed Uncle Wiggily the money and the squirrel boy hurried over to the vacant lots to play ball with his animal chap friends. Uncle Wiggily hopped to the sugar store and bought a large bag of the sweet stuff.

"Well, I haven't had much of an adventure yet," spoke Uncle Wiggily, half out loud, as he was hopping through the woods where he promised to meet Johnnie. "No adventure at all"

"You're going to have one right now," suddenly growled a voice, and out of the bushes jumped the Fuzzy Fox. The Fox made a grab for the bunny gentleman, and the claws of the bad chap tore open the bag of sugar, scattering the white, sweet grains all over the ground.

"Excuse me, I didn't mean to do that," barked the Fox. "I was just trying to get your ears."

"Well, you've spilled Johnnie's sugar, that's what you've done," said Uncle Wiggily, bravely like. "Now you've got to help me pick it up! If it was my sugar I wouldn't say a word, but as it is for Mrs. Bushytail, why——"

"Pray don't mention it," spoke the Fox, politely—that is, as polite as a Fox ever is. "As I said, I didn't mean to spill the sugar, and I'll be glad to help scrape it up. Then I'll nibble your ears."

"Yes, I suppose you will," sadly sighed the bunny. "But wait until I make a new bag of white birch bark, to hold the sugar." Mr. Longears made the birch bag, and he and the Fox were trying to scrape up the spilled sugar when, all of a sudden, Johnnie came through the woods, for the ball game was over.

"What in the world is going on here?" chattered the squirrel boy, for he was much surprised to see Uncle Wiggily and the Fox working together so friendly like.

"The Fox spilled the sugar, and I am making him help clean it up," exclaimed Uncle Wiggily. "After that he is going to nibble me."

"Oh, after that he is going to nibble you, is he?" said Johnnie softly. "Well, let me help sweep up the sugar. With my bushy tail, which is like a dusting brush, I can sweep the sugar into a pile and it will be easier to gather up."

"Yes," growled the Fox, hungry like, "it will."

Then Johnnie suddenly, with a sweep of his tail, brushed a lot of sugar into the eyes of the Fox. "Swishy-swoshy!" the sugar scattered into the eyes of the bad chap, and, as the sugar was a bit wet from having been on the ground, it stuck the eyes of the Fox tightly shut.

"Oh, I can't see! I can't see!" howled the Fox, trying in vain to open his eyes. "I can't see a thing!"

"Then you can't see Uncle Wiggily and me run away!" laughed Johnnie, and quickly gathering up most of the sugar in the birch bark bag, the squirrel boy and the bunny gentleman ran safely home. And the Fox couldn't open his sugary sticky shut eyes until his wife came with some warm water to wash his face. So he nibbled no ears that day.

"Excuse me," barked the Fox.

And if the spool of thread doesn't sit down to read the paper of pins when the needle wants to squint its eye, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the bad boys.

Dinner Stories

Two Irishmen were engaged to remove a piano from the fourth floor of a six-story apartment. Pat was big and husky. Mike, small and wiry. They rigged the tackle and descended to the street to lower the piano. The instrument became jammed in the window and Pat went upstairs to pry it loose, leaving Mike to tend the rope.

Pat shoved the piano out and down it went. The weight of the instrument was too much for Mike and up he came. The piano hit the ground and smashed, freeing the rope, and down came Mike.

Pat rushed downstairs and found his friend lying on the ground. He shook him and said, "Oh, Mike! Spake to yer ol' friend! Plase do!"

Miked opened his eyes and said, "Friend nothin'! I passed yer twice an' yer wudn't spake to me."—Judge.

Uncle Joe, on a visit to his brother's household, seemed particularly interested in Henry, the hopeful, says the San Francisco Chronicle.

"And what are you going to be when you grow up, Henry?" he asked, genially.

"Well," returned Henry, thoughtfully, "after I have been a minister to please mother, and a judge to please father, I am going to be a policeman."

"How is it, major," asked the ambitious young crook, addressing the hoary-headed master of the craft, "that you are so invariably successful in picking out juicy suckers and never waste your time on empty prospects?"

"I simply wait till I hear a man state that he is a pretty good judge of human nature," replied the veteran, "and then I sell him the union station or something of the sort."—Kansas City Star.

The clergyman felt annoyed to find that an old gentleman fell asleep during the sermon on two consecutive Sundays, goes a "Judge" story. So after service finally he asked the boy who accompanied the sleeper into the vestry.

"My boy, who is that elderly gentleman you attend church with?"

"Grandpa."

"Well, if you will keep him awake during my sermon I'll give you a nickel each week."

For the next two weeks the old gentleman was attentive to the sermon. The third week, however, found him soundly asleep again.

The vexed clergyman sent for the boy.

"Didn't you promise to keep him awake if I paid you a nickel a week?"

"Yes, but grandpa now gives me a dime not to disturb him."

Firpo's Manager Quits Over Share of Purse

NEW YORK, May 23.—It is reported that Luis Angel Firpo, the Argentinian heavyweight, and Jimmy De Forest, the trainer who developed him from a raw novice to one of the foremost contenders for the championship, are about to part company. Firpo and De Forest are said to have disagreed over money matters and, although the difficulty was glossed over temporarily, a definite break is impending.

It is said that the Argentinan offered De Forest $1000 for the months he spent in schooling the fighter in preparation for his bouts with Bill Brennan and Jack McAuliffe and that the offer was spurned.

Tex Rickard After Dempsey-Wills Bout

NEW YORK, May 23.—Tex Rickard entered the field for a bout between Jack Dempsey and Harry Wills, when he went before the New York Boxing commission to ask permission to hold such a contest next September. This commission, in one of its numerous rulings, ruled against such a fight.

The commission held a two-hour meeting after which it was said nothing had been done. A letter was received from Paddy Mullins, manager of Harry Wills, demanding action for a bout with Dempsey. No action was taken on it.

Indoor Ball Teams Meet at High School

"Anyone interested in playing in the newly-formed indoor league should meander over to the high school grounds almost any night this week and he will be given an opportunity to do his stuff," this morning declared Art Mackenzie of 903 Melrose street, member of the night school team in the Community Service indoor baseball league. Games are played under the new lights recently installed by the public service department.

Kearns Wants to See Coin for Wills Fight

GREAT FALLS, Mont., May 23.—"Let them produce their money, and we will settle the thing pronto," Manager Jack Kearns declared in commenting on the proposed Jack Dempsey-Harry Wills heavyweight for Labor day.

Dempsey declined to discuss prospects for a championship bout with the negro, saying he wanted to get the Gibbons fight out of the way before taking on any other bout.

The WORLD OVER

By FRANKLIN B. MORSE.
PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

The close of the seventh week of play in the Pacific coast baseball league found the San Francisco club firmly entrenched in first place with little likelihood that its position will be menaced very seriously in the immediate future. The series just played at Seattle was one in which slugging and run getting featured and it was the exceptional player who did not fatten up his batting average and add a lot of runs to the sum total of his base running work. The fact that San Francisco scored sixty-seven runs in the seven games and the Salt Lakers fifty-five is sufficient proof that the grass between the bases in the Salt Lake park will probably need resodding or re-seeding.

As compared with the standings of the eight teams a year ago today, the following is the present lineup together with games played, won, lost and percentages:

1922	W.	L.	Pct.
Vernon	27	15	643
Los Angeles	26	22	542
San Francisco	25	22	532
Seattle	23	23	500
Salt Lake	20	20	500
Oakland	23	26	469
Portland	17	24	415
Sacramento	19	28	404

1923	W.	L.	Pct
San Francisto	29	18	617
Sacramento	26	20	565
Salt Lake	26	20	565
Vernon	25	21	543
Portland	25	22	532
Los Angeles	21	24	467
Oakland	17	29	370
Seattle	13	30	333

Portland took a bad tumble at the hands of the more or less lowly Oaklanders and they dropped in the standings from the first into the second division. Los Angeles which had been going very badly, on the other hand, had little less than a picnic with the Seattle team which, at the present time is playing the part of the weak sister in the league. Wolverton is a good manager. Make no mistake about that. The trouble is he is in need of new material, and needs it badly, and the sad part of it is there is no place where it is available—not as far as anyone knows.

Sacramento climbed from fifth to second place in the standings by virtue of winning a close series from Vernon. The Sacramentans still seem to be an unknown quantity and no one seems to be hazarding a guess as to whether or not they will be figuring when mid season rolls around.

It is notable that Ellison of San Francisco among the men who has played the greatest number of games again is heading the list of sluggers although his percentage is not quite as high as it was last year at this time. Strand of Salt Sake is another of the consistent men with the willow and these two staunch players are again running the interesting neck and neck battle for batting honors they ran last season.

The Sport Crucible

By Davis J. Walsh
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, May 23.—One of the complexities of baseball, a pastime that owns many blind alleys of theory, is the fact that the Detroit Tigers have always possessed outfielders of remarkable hitting ability. Another is the record of the Pittsburgh Pirates in being without a first-class first baseman from the departure of Kitty Bransfield, back around 1907, to the arrival of Lefty Grimm in 1919. A third and fourth might be termed the ability of John McGraw to develop base runners and the Chicago Cubs first-class catchers.

There is no particular reason why these things should be, although in McGraw's case base running has always been a fetish until the introduction of the "jack-rabbit" ball. He had to round up fast men, however, and these worthies are born, not made.

In the case of the Tiger outfielders, no logical explanation can be offered. In the early days of the American league old Sam Crawford, flanked by Davy Jones and Matty McIntyre, was the Big Bertha of the attack, a great hitter always. In 1905 Cobb came along, and for years thereafter the Cobb-Crawford combination was the most feared in baseball.

Subsequently this duo was joined by Bobby Veach, who rounded out the greatest hitting outfield of this generation, if not all others. Crawford finally faded, but before he passed on to the minor leagues Harry Heilmann was purchased from Portland, Ore., and almost immediately came into reconition as a slugger. Next to Hornsby he is easily the best right-hand hitter in the major leagues at the moment.

A year or so after Heilmann's advent Ira Flagstead, recently traded to the Boston Red Sox, came up from Tacoma and proved himself a consistent .300 hitter as extra outfielder. Ira's passing to another club was hastened only by the fact that the Tigers seem to have picked up another fine hitting outfielder in the person of Bob Fothergill, who topped the International league last year. Fothergill is slated to replace Veach in the none too distant future, although the latter is likely to hit .300 for the rest of his days.

Pittsburgh's first base famine defies explanation in view of the fact that no club figures to go thirteen years without an acceptable candidate for any one position. Dreyfuss did have the original claim on George Sisler, but was jockeyed out of it. Otherwise his efforts to line up a candidate were without success.

The Cubs have never been without good catching since the days of Johnny Kling. After that great receiver began to slip, Jim Archer stepped in and headed the field for years. Then came Bill Killefer, the best of his day, and now O'Farrell and Hartnett are carrying the job through very well, indeed.

STATE VETS GO INTO POLITICS

Form Organization to Guard Interests of State and To Pick Officials

SACRAMENTO, May 23.—Presaging an organized drive by former service men to elect officials to office who will support legislation providing for the care and rehabilitation of wounded veterans, the Associated War Veterans, an organization composed of returned soldiers, has filed articles of incorporation with Secretary of State Frank C. Jordan.

The veterans' organization plainly sets forth in its articles that it intends to play an active part in California politics.

Headquarters of the association will be opened in San Francisco, and branch organizations are planned in all leading cities of the state.

Purposes of Order

The purposes of the order, summarized, are as follows:

1. To combat all measures detrimental to the social and economic welfare of the state.

2. To advance the interests and work for the betterment of all ex-service men, especially wounded, injured and disabled veterans.

3. In furtherance of these purposes, to encourage and assist in the election and appointment to public office of men of the highest character and ability.

Men who served the United States either in the world war or in prior wars are eligible to membership in the association.

Preacher in His Bed Performs Marriage

BUCYRUS, Ohio, May 23.—A "bedside" wedding occurred near here. The order, however, was reversed. Instead of the bride or groom being bedridden it was the officiating clergyman. Afflicted with rheumatism and too ill to leave his bed, Rev. Robert J. Graetz, pastor of the Martin Luther church, four miles yest of Bucyrus, propped up with pillows, united in marriage his only daughter, Miss Anna Roselle Graetz and Frank Carl Marschner, chief clerk of the Detroit Edison company.

French Phone Rates Tripled Since May 1

PARIS, May 23.—Keeping pace with the falling franc foreign telephone calls to England, the Netherlands, Germany, Italy and Spain have been tripled by the French postal administration over the rates in existence before May 1.

Rates for calls to Belgium, Luxemburg and Switzerland will be modified later.

Cy Williams Makes His Fifteenth Homer

PHILADELPHIA, May 24.—Cy Williams, slugging Phillies, peppered out his fifteenth home run of the 1923 season in the fifth inning of yesterday's game here with Pittsburgh. Williams' homer was preceded by a circuit clout by Mokan.

SPORTS CHATTER

By BILL UNMACK
PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

Reports from anglers in all sections of California are to the effect that the trout fishing is excellent. Some of our readers who are contemplating a holiday outing trip may be glad to know this. On the other hand, bass fishing is not satisfactory.

Differences of opinion are what make life worth the living. Since Willie Ritchie, former lightweight champion of the world, stated that he would try to emulate Jess Willard's comeback, some sports writers have advocated that he take on some of the lesser lights before he tackles Benny Leonard, the champion, as they claim that Leonard, once having licked Ritchie, ought not to have any trouble to do it again and therefore Willie would be out of the money after his first fight.

On the other hand, there are those who claim that Ritchie should go after Leonard at once, basing their argument on the fact that he could get as much money in the one fight against Leonard as he would against several of the lesser lights. It would seem that this statement was open to question. Our experience has been that when one goes after the champion he is the one who gets practically all the money, while the challenger is supposed to be tickled to death over the mere opportunity to get a crack at the title.

Whatever else may be said of Renato Gardini, the Italian heavyweight wrestler, at least he tries and seems a glutton for punishment. He has had three or four matches against Champion Strangler Ed Lewis within recent months, and each time the son of Sunny Italy has had his shoulder-blades scorched by the canvas. Gardini is a clever fellow who is learning, and it may be there is a lot of method in his seeming madness. Surely he could get no better opponent than the champion from whom to gain experience. The day may come when the pupil will have his foot on the neck of the master.

"Tex" Gressett of the Portland club of the Pacific Coast league is an immeasurably better player than Jimmie O'Connell, for whom the New York Giants paid $75,000, according to the Portland scout, Tom Turner. Tom may really think this. On the other hand there are those who have a sneaking idea that Tom is talking along these lines in the hope that some big league magnate with a lot of dough will become sufficiently interested in Gressett to come through with a big price for him. There are tricks in all trades—and baseball trades are no exceptions.

Jack Dempsey Will Be Luncheon Guest

GREAT FALLS, Mont., May 23.—Jack Dempsey will be guest of honor this afternoon at a luncheon sponsored by the Rotary, Kiwanis, Commercial Club, Merchants' associations and other local organizations, after which he will give a sparring exhibition at the Grand opera house for the benefit of the St. Thomas orphanage.

Tuesday Dempsey worked in the outside ring just completed at which no charge was made but admission charges start Thursday. In his three round sparring exhibition the champion displayed powerful punches, clever foot work and stiff in-fighting. He dropped Powers, a heavyweight, in a single round. Orders for reserved seats continue to pour in for the fight from all sections of the country.

TAGGING ALL BASES

George H. Ruth, the well-known right-fielder, stepped into Mike Cvengros' left-handed pitching for a home run over the right field fence, and put an end to a 15-inning duel, the Yanks beating the White Sox again, 3 to 1. Pennock held the Sox to four hits.

The Dodgers advanced to fifth place by defeating the Reds, 9 to 6.

In an avalanche of hitting, the Browns outscored the Senators 12 to 7.

Cy Williams smacked his fifteenth homer of the season, but it came in a lost cause, the Phillies finishing second to the Pirates by a score of 13 to 6. The Pirates crashed out twenty hits, including home runs by Russell and Traynor.

LOCAL TEAM TO INVADE CATALINA

Glendale Will Clash With Magic Isle Ball Squad On Next Sunday

The Glendale ball team travels to Catalina on Sunday, to take on the fast Magic Isle squad, who have won every game so far this season, sending their opponents back from the "chewing gum isle" on the lop side of very lop-sided scores indeed.

Manager Walt Heidler feels that the fact the Managers' Association of Southern California picked Glendale's team to meet the Magic Isle nine is a great tribute to the way the local boys have been playing, as only the best available outfits go up against the big league material over on Catalina Island.

Walt reports the team is working harder than ever this week, and will be in the pink of condition for Sunday's contest, which he hopes will be witnessed by a big delegation of Glendale fans.

The game starts at 10:30 o'clock Sunday morning, so as to give the players a chance to enjoy a few hours on the island afterward, before boat time.

This game will be a jolly outing for both players and fans, feels Walt.

In spite of political and industrial upheaval, Russia still ranks third in petroleum production.

GETTING AWAY FROM THE CITY

Now that the fishing season has opened and early anglers report good catches, the urban dweller feels an itching in his feet and an almost uncontrollable desire to get away from the crowds and try his luck beside some rushing brook or quiet stream.

He is not content with a few hours in the great outdoors, but wants to take the family along for a week-end or over-night outing. In the old days this meant the expense of a hotel or spending the night in a make-shift tent, subject to all kinds of inconveniences. Nowadays the family can purchase an up-to-the-minute tent, compact and easily put up, and large enough to afford ample accommodation. With a modern camping stove, some canvas cots and the necessary cooking utensils, handled at the conveniently located stores of the Western Auto Supply Company, life in the open can be spent just as comfortably as in the home, no matter how large or small the family or whether the night's location be the mountains, countryside or beach.

Every Man, Woman and Child Has A Backbone

CAUSE A SUBLEXATED LUMBAR VERTEBRA

Chiropractic is effective in elimination of disorders in sufferers of all ages and both sexes.

Women, above all, are most often victims of illness and functional incordination. Chiropractic has proven itself a boon to womanhood—girls, wives, mothers. Ninety-five per cent of diseases are due to pressure upon nerves along the sides of the vertebral column. This pressure interferes with their function; hence inflammation, unnatural action, pain and distress are manifested where those nerves end. All diseases are prolonged until this pressure upon these nerves leading to the affected parts is adjusted. No "DOPE" is going to put new life into these nerves; it may deaden pain temporarily, causing a relieved condition for a time, but just so long as the pressure exists on the nerves radiating from the spine, just so long will there be trouble.

Have your spine analyzed NOW, it may save you weeks and months of pain and suffering in the near future. Hilow table, rest room, rest cots, etc., for your comfort.

ADVERTISER WILL REVEAL SECRETS

Method of Preparing Copy Will Be Shown by Expert Writer

Now we are going to have the confessions of an advertising man! The readers of this newspaper will shortly be acquainted with the secret thoughts and aims of the advertising amn when he plans an ad and writes the copy. Just what does he have in mind when he constructs the ad? It isn't an haphazard arrangement, by any means, and in every good ad there is a definite reason for every element. The layman, the man and the woman who reads the newspapers, is going to learn some "tricks of the trade" when he follows this facinating series of "confessions". He is going to be taken behind the scenes, as it were, where he can watch the mechanics of the play. He is going to learn how the thing is done and the efects produced.

These "confessions of an advertising man" are to be presented in a novel manner. They will be part and parcel of the new series of Savage Tire advertisements soon to appear. This is a new departure in publicity—an advertisement that achieves its purpose of advertising a product and at the same time entertains and imparts some interesting information about one of the big business problems of the day—promoting the sale of goods and the welfare of the public by means of advertising.

Will Tell Methods

Royal B. Lee, advertising manager of the Spreckels "Savage" Tire Company, plays the role of confessor. He states his purpose candidly in these words: "It appears to be true that we appreciate most that which we understand best. The artist, or the person with a knowledge of art, best appreciates the masterpiece, and musicians, or those trained in music, recognize the beautiful rendering of a composition—because they understand the motifs, the technique, the thought, the purpose, or whatever it may be, that is expressed. It would seem that the same thing ought to apply in other lines of endeavor or methods of expression—the building of tires, or the designing of an advertisement, for example. With this in mind, we've arranged a series of ads with comments on the side. It is true, too, that people usually like to learn something about the other fellow's business, and we see no reason why our business should be an exception."

E. V. Jellison, of the Jellison Motor Co., 1006 South Brand boulevard, is the local agent for Savage tires, and will co-operate in the advertising campaign that is to be launched.

Doing Things Differently
Governor Starts Drafting
Lincoln-Douglas Debate
Abolishment Of Poverty

By Gil A. Cowan

ENGLAND has a new premier The chancellor of the exchequer of the British government has been given a promotion. He succeeds Bonar Law, retired because of ill health.

The premiership of Great Britain is enough to make any man sick. Just to repeat a paragraph appearing in yesterday's Evening News regarding the change:

"Chancellor Baldwin was accompanied by his wife to Buckingham palace. They made the trip in an ordinary taxicab. While Chancellor Baldwin conferred with the king Mrs. Baldwin walked up and down Birdcage walk, which is just outside the palace. The conference was a long one."

In America we do things a great deal differently. All of the defeated candidates for the presidency of the party that is in power are called together and assigned to various jobs, unless they are already employed in government service.

For instance, Charles Evans Hughes, Herbert Hoover, General Wood, not to forget William Howard Taft, are among the notables who get their jobs that way.

But in London it is different. While our political system in America does not agree with that of Britain's, our capitalistic dynasty does much the same as the king.

John D. Rockefeller offered a young millionaire in a Southern California city the small sum of $2,000,000 a year to work for the oil king's interests, it is reported. While this offer was refused, we'll bet John D. wouldn't offer an ambitious, but poor, young man $2000 a year to do the same work.

Governor Richardson has started "drafting" prominent people for positions of state, just as predicted by this writer. Few of the professional office-seekers wish to cast their luck with the first real governor the state has had for some years.

There is absolutely one thing lacking in Sacramento, and that is a machine which has access to the governor's office.

If that is any consolation for the people, the victory is all theirs

It is a far call to Freeport, Ill., from Tujunga, but out in the Verdugo Hills this week a film company is "shooting" the Lincoln-Douglas debate which made history in one of the hottest political campaigns the United States has ever seen.

The writer was not present at the original Lincoln-Douglas debate, although there may be some alive to tell of the event which was subject for a celebration in Freeport last year. But many a time we have passed the historic spot in front of the Stephenson county courthouse. And we will enjoy seeing on the screen a picturization of what we imagined, as a little boy, actually took place.

Ice is being extolled in a series of advertisements by the Southern California Association of Ice Industries.

Almost everyone knows the value of ice in keeping food sweet and untainted, but how little we think of it. Indeed, Americans have become so accustomed to ice that it is usual to have the ice chest in the pantry kept supplied almost the year 'round, especially in the warmer climes.

Somewhere in our early recollection there used to be a well where the milk and cream and butter were let down into the cool earthen cupboard by a windlass, but that day has passed.

For sometimes a frog used to find its way into the can of milk, or a mouse used to jump in the cream kept in the cellar. All of which was unsanitary.

So today we have manufactured ice, brought around each day by a husky young fellow, who for a small sum relieves the housewife of all of the trouble of running to the cellar for a bit of butter, or a pitcher of cream. One and all should give thanks for the ice man and the efficient ice industry.

In the news columns we read the very interesting announcement: "Discussion of the fundamental principles of the scientific method of abolishing poverty, will take place at a meeting Sunday afternoon, etc."

We are too cynical to believe that poverty can be abolished, fundamental principles to the contrary. For all of us are impoverished to a greater or less degree. We know people who are land poor. Others poor in health. Others without food and more without the clothes they would like to wear.

Poverty is not to be decried. Some of the happiest mortals on this earth are those who have nothing to worry over. Go to the alms-house and see what an enjoyable time the inmates have. Visit the prisons and see how well the prisoners get along without any worldly goods.

Poverty is simply a state of mind. And it is a much happier state than that of caring for great wealth.

In the American Magazine recently a prize was given for the best essay on "What I Would Do With a Million Dollars."

You would be surprised to know of the great tasks some of the people would take unto themselves if they were wealthy.

They are much happier with that which they have.

Over twice as many men as women died accidentally in 1920.

WILL TEST GUNS AT 25,000 RANGE

Battleship Maryland to Fire At Distant Targets During Trials

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH
For International News Service

WASHINGTON, May 23.—The sixteen-inch guns of the new battleship Maryland, equal to the armament of any fighting craft in the world, will be turned loose over a 25,000-yard range June 7, marking the first time in United States naval history that gunners have used this calibre weapon in distant target practice, the navy department has announced.

The targets will be anchored off Piney Point, Chesapeake Bay, for the trials, which are expected to prove of outstanding importance in determining the accuracy and dispersion of heavy naval rifles elevated to thirty degrees.

The Maryland is the only battleship in the American fleet whose guns are elevated to thirty degrees, making possible at least equaling the range of any ships of the British fleet. However, before the end of the year the battleships West Virginia and Colorado, with thirty-degree guns, are expected to be ready for service.

Officials Interested

Naval officials are keenly interested in the outcome of the firing, since congress appropriated fuunds to elevate the guns of all naval vessels to thirty degrees on information that the British navy and taken similar action. However, when that information proved erroneous President Harding held up the elevation project until congress could have an opportunity to consider the new facts.

With the guns elevated at thirty degrees the shell drops almost vertically, reducing considerably the probability of a high per cent of hits. The additional elevation over other armament of the fleet, however, gives the Maryland the advantage of putting her guns in action about 5,000 yards farther from an enemy craft than other vessels of the fleet.

Tells of Flight by Clara and Her Sister

LOS ANGELES, May 23.—Clara Phillips, "hammer murderess," accompanied by her "baby sister," Etta May Jackson, and Jesse Carsen, boarded the freighter Baja California at Guatemala on April 7 and fled to Honduras, where the trio are now held under arrest, according to word brought here by Fitzroy Kelly, wireless operator aboard the Baja California.

The trio boarded the freighter as Jesse Carsen and wife (Mrs. Phillips) and Mrs. R. M. Young, Mrs. Carsen's sister-in-law, Kelly stated, and they had hardly come aboard when the two women berated Carsen for his attentions to Mrs. Phillips. The trio attracted the attention of the crew because they were clad in heavy clothing, a direct contrast to the light costumes generally worn in the tropics.

"Mrs. Phillips and her sister were very quiet and reserved, except when the quarreled with Carsen," Kelly said. "Carsen tried to be very attentive to Mrs. Phillips, called her 'girlie' and tried to caress her several times, but she cowered from his advances. Mrs. Phillips and her sister occupied a double stateroom together. Carsen slept in the salon."

Eastern Star Will Hold Charity Ball

The annual Charity Ball of the 1923 Patrons of the Eastern Star lodges, of Los Angeles and vicinity, will be held Friday night, May 25, at the Goldberg-Bosley academy, Sixteenth and Flower streets, Los Angeles.

The finest of music, consisting of a ten-piece jazz orchestra, has been secured and the committee on arrangements are striving to make this affair a wonderful success and outdo if possible the record made in previous years.

The grand march will take place at 9 o'clock, led by Mrs. Daisy Brown, president of the Matrons' association, and J. Raymond Hays, president of the Patrons' association.

The entire proceeds will be turned over to charitable organizations, it is announced.

AUSTRALIAN MINES

Australian mines produced the largest amount of gold since 1903 last year, although the output of New South Wales decreased from former years.

Mines in The Netherlands yielded more than 4,500,000 metric tons of coal last year, a record production.

D. R. A. W. CHASE'S FAMILY REMEDIES

THE WELL-KNOWN MEDICINES OF THE FAMOUS RECEIPT BOOK AUTHOR

PILES!

There is no suffering like the torture from piles. This continual suffering reacts upon the nervous system and may eventually cause a complete physical breakdown. It is not necessary to endure the torture from piles when quick, sure relief is right at hand. Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment relieves piles at once—and not only that, when this treatment is persisted in, it affords lasting benefit. Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment is nationally famous as a remedy for piles, eczema, ring worm, sore feet, hives, insect bites, pimples, blackheads, chafing, chapped hands, chilblains, frost bite and all skin irritations. Read what Arthur Fleury of 63 Ruth St., New Bedford, Mass. says:

"I used Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment for Piles and got relief from it. That is about fifteen years ago and I always use Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment when another attack of Piles is coming on me. There is no better Medicine for Piles that I know of that will give you better relief."

You can buy Dr. Chase's Ointment at all drug stores. To be sure of getting the genuine, see that portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M.D. are on each box—your protection against imitations.

Auto Dealers Decide On High Jinks Date

The second annual high jinks day of the Glendale Automobile Dealers association has been fixed for June 14 and 15, according to plans that were formed at the weekly luncheon of the association yesterday in the Citizens Building, but the destination of the party has not yet been definitely settled. The choice lies between Little Bear Lake and Lebec, and this point will be decided within a few days.

Three new dealers were admitted to membership at yesterday's meeting, A. M. Shoffner, Rickenbacker; W. H. Daniel, Packard; and H. Wray Fredman, Oakland.

Firemen Struggle to Rescue Baby Chicks

DEFIANCE, Ohio, May 23.—Many lives were saved by prompt work of Defiance firemen at the County Children's home. The lives were those of over 100 newly hatched chicks. Defective wiring is blamed for the fire, which produced a heavy smoke that nearly suffocated the chicks in a brooder.

REVERSES VERDICT

SACRAMENTO, May 23.—Reversing a decision of the Sacramento county court, the third district court of appeals yesterday denied Miss Emma Gett damages for the death of her husband, William A. Gett, who was killed in a street car accident here in September, 1920. The lower court ordered the Pacific Gas & Electric Company, who operated the street car, to pay Mrs. Gett $10,000 in damages.

Doctor Keeps Going In Half of His Auto

LOGAN, Ohio, May 23.—While making a night call near here recently Dr. E. L. Long drove onto a bridge. A hub cap hit a side of the bridge and the auto broke in two, near the middle of the machine. The rear end of the car remained on the bridge, while the front part, carrying Dr. Long and another passenger, kept on until it piled up at the foot of a small hill beyond the bridge.

In Germany there has been developed for home use a machine to mould coal dust and binding materials into fuel briquets.

Shears for cutting cloth were invented in Italy about 400 B. C., but it was two or three centuries more before scissors were made by fitting them to the fingers.

Sciots Organization Meeting on Thursday

A final organization meeting of the Glendale Pyramid, the Ancient Egyptian Order of Sciots, will be held at Pearl Keller's hall, 109-A North Brand boulevard, at 8 o'clock Thursday night, May 24, announces Dick Kinley, organizer of the lodge.

"All Master Masons in the San Fernando valley are eligible for membership," states Mr. Kinley. "The Pyramid will be located in Glendale and enough members are already assured to make it a success from the start.

"This meeting on Thursday night is for the purpose of completing organization and taking steps to secure a charter.

"Entertainers and prominent Masons from Los Angeles will be present, as well as local talent. The Sciots is a real organization, for real fellows. Come and bring a Masonic friend.

Dr. Boyer Is Building New 8-Room House

An attractive two-story eight-room residence is being built at 125 Milford street for Dr. and Mrs. H. R. Boyer. A feature of the Spanish architecture is two balconies which will command a fine view of the Verdugo hills and Griffith park. The property is located on the northeast corner of Orange and Milford street. The new home will be ready for occupancy about the first of August.

NEW OCEAN LINERS

WASHINGTON, May 23.—The United States shipping board contemplates the construction of two new ocean liners for trans-Atlantic service in conjunction with the Leviathan, it was learned late yesterday. The ships will cost $12,000,000 each.

The shipping board is understood to have decided to build new vessels instead of reconditioning the Agamemnon and the Mount Vernon, at an estimated cost of $8,000,000 per ship.

$10,000 FIRE LOSS

LOS ANGELES, May 23.—Threatening destruction of the entire plant, fire did damage estimated at $10,000 Tuesday to the Peacock oil refinery at Florence avenue and Alameda street. Only after a stubborn fight of more than an hour were the firemen able to bring the blaze under control and prevent the fire from spreading to nearby tanks of gasoline.
